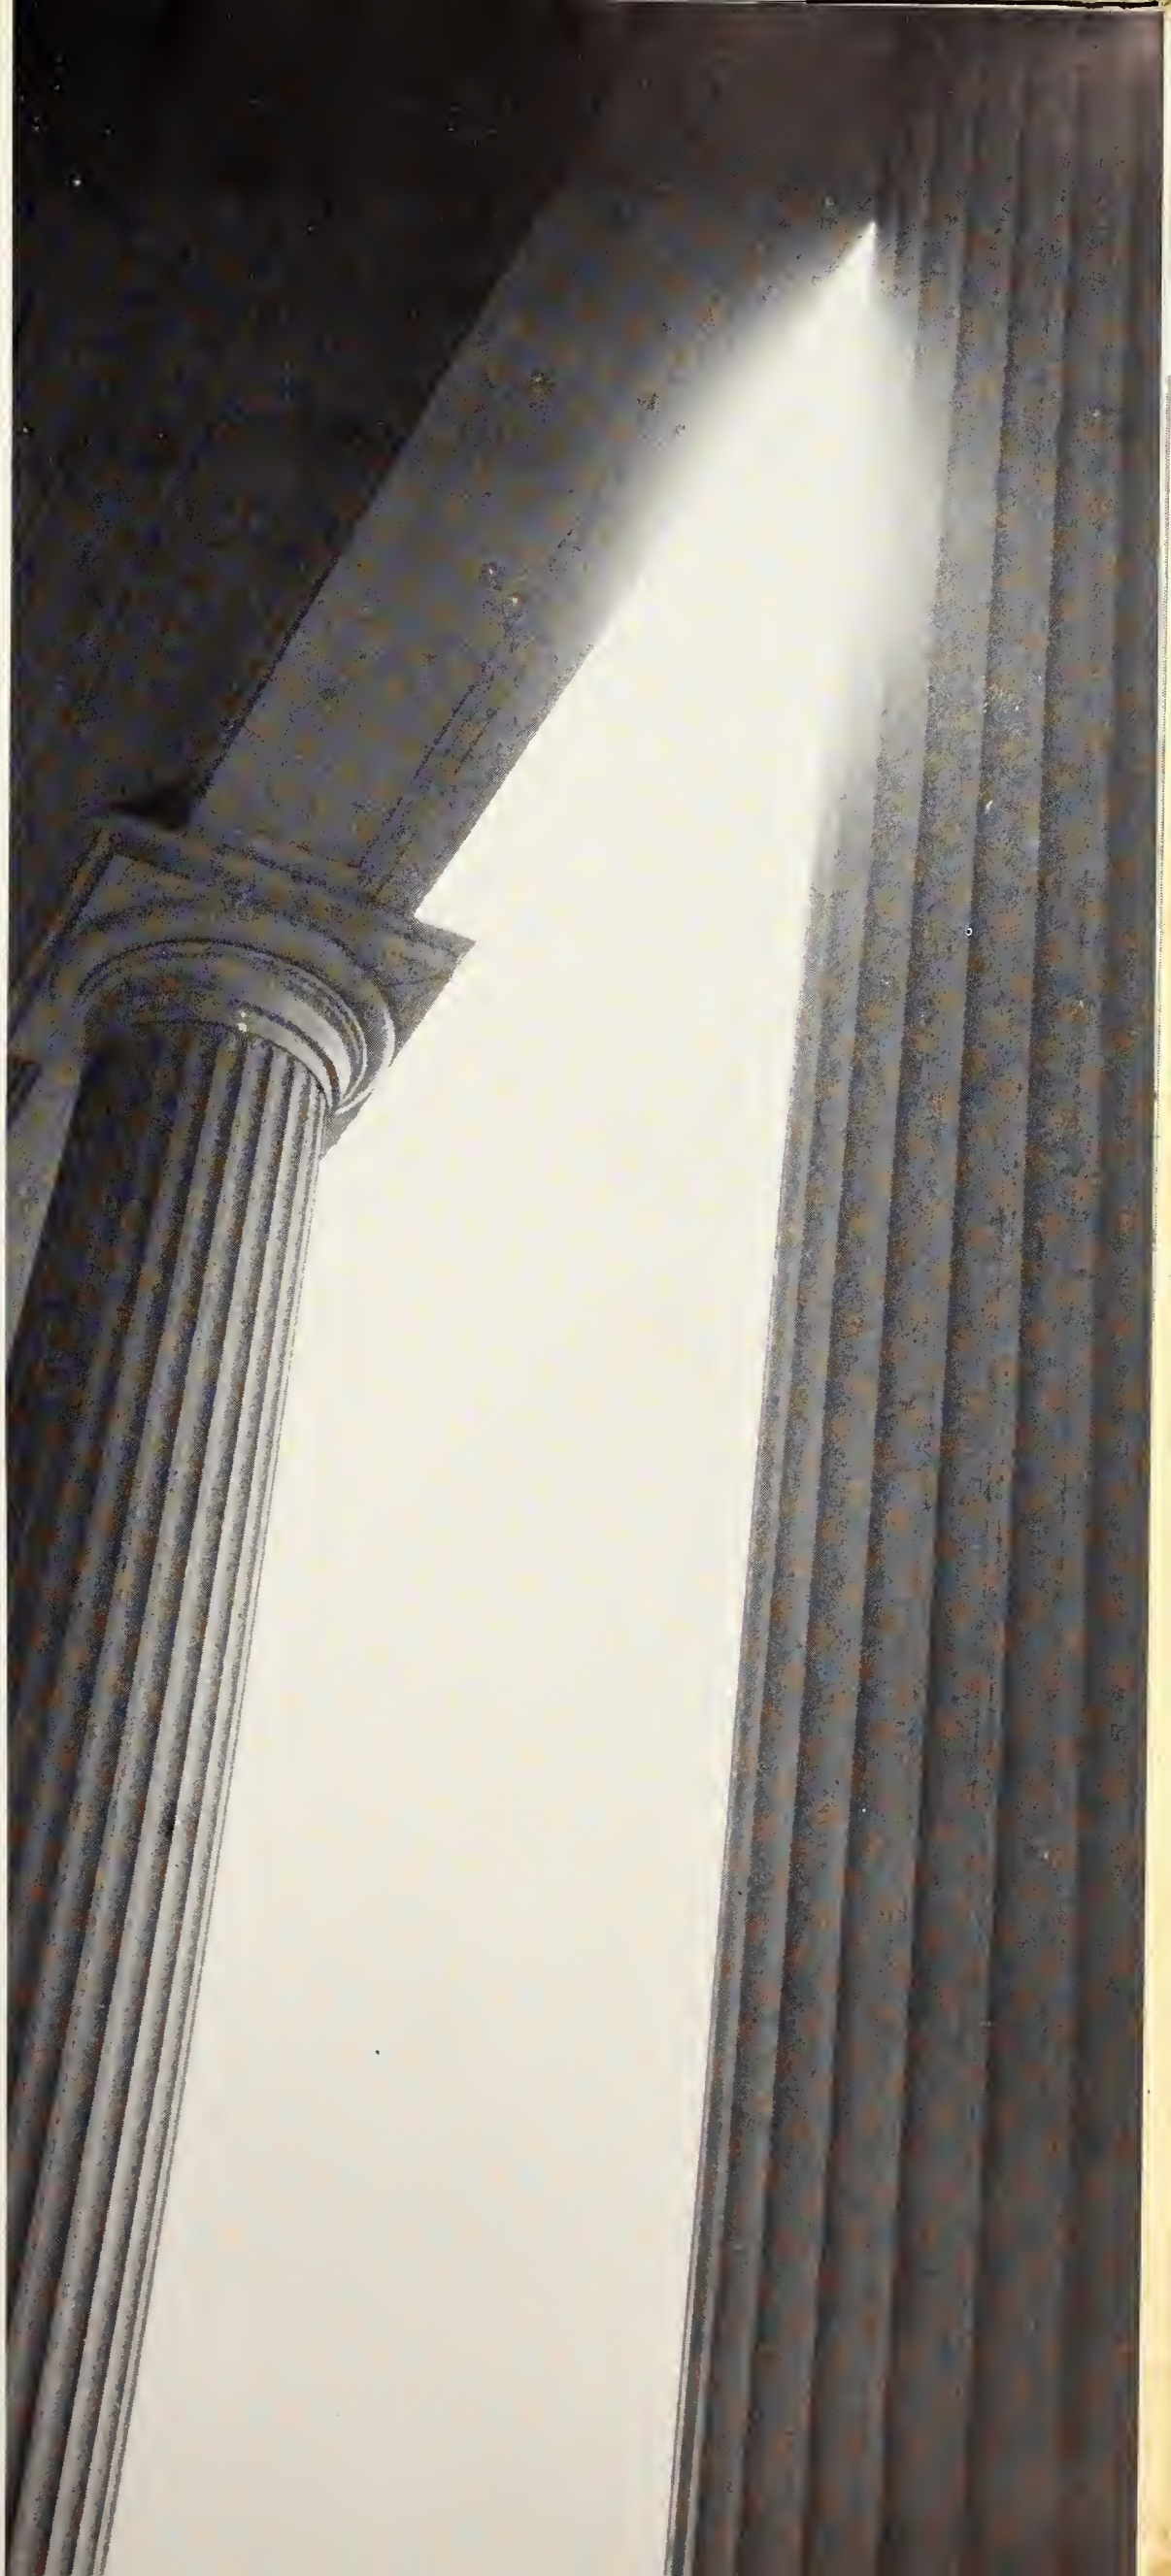
Foreword

The title of this article, slightly altered, becomes the keyword of our generation. Forward. The word itself connotes the restless undercurrent that has intensified man's recent advancement. We are now riding a crest of inventive achievement. New ideas have spurred manufacture and transportation. Very recently men have begun to muster their frail strength and utilize their intelligence to probe the mysteries of the universe. Gropingly, steadily, man continues to extend his mastery over the elements. The world we are about to enter is brilliant, tense, and challenging; it is a place where new achievements and new dangers are born simultaneously.

During this time of explosive advances, we here at the University have lived exactly the same collegiate pattern which our predecessors lived years ago. We studied until daybreak; then fortified with black coffee, we went doggedly to class to be tested; we shelved our books in favor of the basketball games, "bull" sessions, or dates when the threat of mental combat was less imminent; we spent countless hours discussing the administration, the world situation, the faculty, our classmates. During our metamophosis from adolescence to adults we shed coats of innocence, arrogance, and superficial independence, respectively. Finally, as the time for graduation grew near, we grew sentimental and mistily fond of the place we had alternately libeled, boasted of, and complained about for four years. All this happened just as it had years ago.

This book is more than a link between our future and the secure and comfortable past. It is a reminder of what we will be striving to maintain. College — all the study, companionable striving, and silly customs that are an integral part of that institution — is a segment of our American way of life which is not a mythical, intangible thing — an abstract term — but a composite of all the ordinary daily routine things our people do. Fraternity dances; examinations; the slow, patient cultivation of the mind; the steady trickle of nutrients to the intellect; all are vital to the health of our people and our nation. So long as these seemingly mundane occurences are free to happen unmolested, our country will be able to provide men with the abilities to harness successfully the new powers they engender. The pictures in this book, then, represent more than the pleasant memories of each of us; they represent the way of life it is our duty and our honor to preserve.



DEDICATION

There are men whose abilities to mold and nurture industry mark them as giants in American business. There are men who, prompted by love of mankind, share unselfishly those resources which they possess in greater abundance than their fellows. Such men are known as philanthropists. Both of these definitions are exemplified by Mr. Charles A. Dana. When the new science building rises to grace our campus, its existence will be due largely to the foresight of this man. The auditorium which is to be a part of the building will owe its existence to the business man with the idea that the University needed a place where students might hear lectures or, more important, participate in religious services.

Mr. Dana's varied and extensive career illustrates his character. In his youth Mr. Dana attended the Cutler School and Columbia University where he received his B. A. and M. A. degrees in law. His early career in corporation law led to a position on the staff of the New York District Attorney. For three terms Mr. Dana served as a prominent Republican on the New York State Legislature. His career in politics culminated in his serving as campaign manager for Theodore Roosevelt.

As one might expect of a broad-minded, vigorous person, Mr. Dana's interests cover a broad scope. While a young lawyer he spent his vacations working as a cowhand on a Mexican ranch which he now owns. Mr. Dana's present business affiliations include the Dana Corporation, of which he is president, and many other corporations in this country, Canada, England, and France, which necessitate his traveling at least twice the distance around the equator each year. Age and experience have sharpened Mr. Dana's ability and heightened his achievements; just last year the University of Toledo awarded him an honorary degree for his ability to organize new industries. Mr. Dana is primarily a business man. He considers his patronage of the University an investment — an investment in youth and in a stronger nation. With foresight — that same foresight that has enabled him to amass a business empire — Mr. Dana saw that the facilities of the University soon would be in greater demand and that a new science building would increase opportunities for many. He has remarked that all successful businesses succeed because of good organization. He believes, as do the students, that the University has an exemplary organization in its trustees, administrators, and faculty. He has placed his confidence in the organization; confidence that those of us who are leaving will do credit to the University by succeeding in our chosen fields; that those of us who remain will continue to utilize to the best of our ability the opportunities for betterment that we find here.

It is in appreciation of this trust that this book is dedicated to Charles A. Dana.

Story of the Year

Each of us who spent the year 1958-1959 here at the University of Bridgeport will carry away with him different memories, for each of us notices only those things which impinge on his patterns of life. So it is that to most of us, something as minute as a damp, earth-scented spring breeze, a shell salvaged from a winter-ravaged shore, an "A" paper will mean more to us than a professor's new doctorate, the addition of a new building to the campus, or a victory for a student organization. Yet our very presence here made us a part of this institution. In as much as what we gained or lost here will remain embedded in ourselves all our lives, this institution has become a part of ourselves. This article is written in the hope that it may provide us with a better understanding of what our school is that it may furnish us with some justifiable pride in the institution of which we are a part.

The rain rolling in from Long Island Sound, shrouding the campus in gloom most of Freshman week, heightened the confusion of the purple capped newcomers. Bewildered, beraggled freshmen, rallied by their spirited guides, toured the campus and endured the many social functions planned for them by the Freshman Week Committee during the summer. The Freshman Ball culminated wellcome-week, and those freshmen who still had strength enough to attend it saw Harriet Zitron of the Bronx, lovely advocate of the bouffant hair-do chosen Freshman Queen. Enrollment reached a new height this year, as did confusion during registration. Following the minor havoc of Freshman Week and registration, students welcomed a chance to settle down to the comparative peace of classes.

Bright October brought a burst of activity to campus. Faculty and students alike had not yet settled into the comfortable, steady mold of activities which patterned the later months. The clear, colorful days of early fall seemed indicative of exploration and experimentation. The Circle K

Club, an exclusive service organization composed of selected students, sponsored by the local chapter of the Kiawanis International, was introduced to the university this year. The organization elected Bob Moran as its first president. Members of Circle K — together with students from Women's House Government, the department of journalism, and the Scribe — participated in the United Fund's "Goldfish Bowl", a newsroom demonstration held for two weeks at the D. M. Read Company. The growing College of Nursing acquired a building of its own this year. The faculty, reinforced by several new members, happily moved into the pale pink Monroe Hall, braced their desks against the walls to offset the slanting floors, and began dreaming of a "brick building of our own someday". Only a few stalwart sports fans braved a drenching downpour to witness the first tootball game of the season against New Haven State Teacher's College. The onlookers attributed our team's loss to the weather and adjourned to a post game party at Lenny's Wagon Wheel. Progress in other departments offset the initial defeat on the field. The music department organized a jazz workshop, a new marching band, and a concert band under the direction of Raymond Stewart, who joined the faculty this year. The jazz workshop adopted an abandoned stable, which had housed the horses of P. T. Barnum, for its headquarters, and each Wednesday evening the aspiring musicians convened to develop their fledgling talents under the guidance of Mr. Stewart. Virus ECHO descended on campus during the early fall, leveling students and faculty indiscriminately, and counter-balancing the exhilarating effect of bright, brisk, autumn weather. The Inter-fraternity Council granted recognition to Iota Delta Pi, latest addition to the male Greek Letter groups. The men of I.D.P. recognizable by their attractive olive drab suits, face a year of probation before final acceptance. Dr. Joseph Roucek of the University's political science and sociology departments received the honor of being named a corresponding member of the Acadamie Di Mediterraneo. Professor Hasan F. Zandy, this year received an honorary Ph.D. from the Minister of Education and the chief of the Department of Advanced Education in Iran. The degree, which had been conferred on Dr. Zandy five years ago in recognition of his research concerning a new x-ray spectometer, came to light only this year. Dr. Harold J. Fine, a psychologist, began conducting weekly group meetings with students who professed a desire for help in overcoming their emotional problems. The University Administration displayed an active interest in student welfare by following the example of many larger schools which have engaged such help for their students.

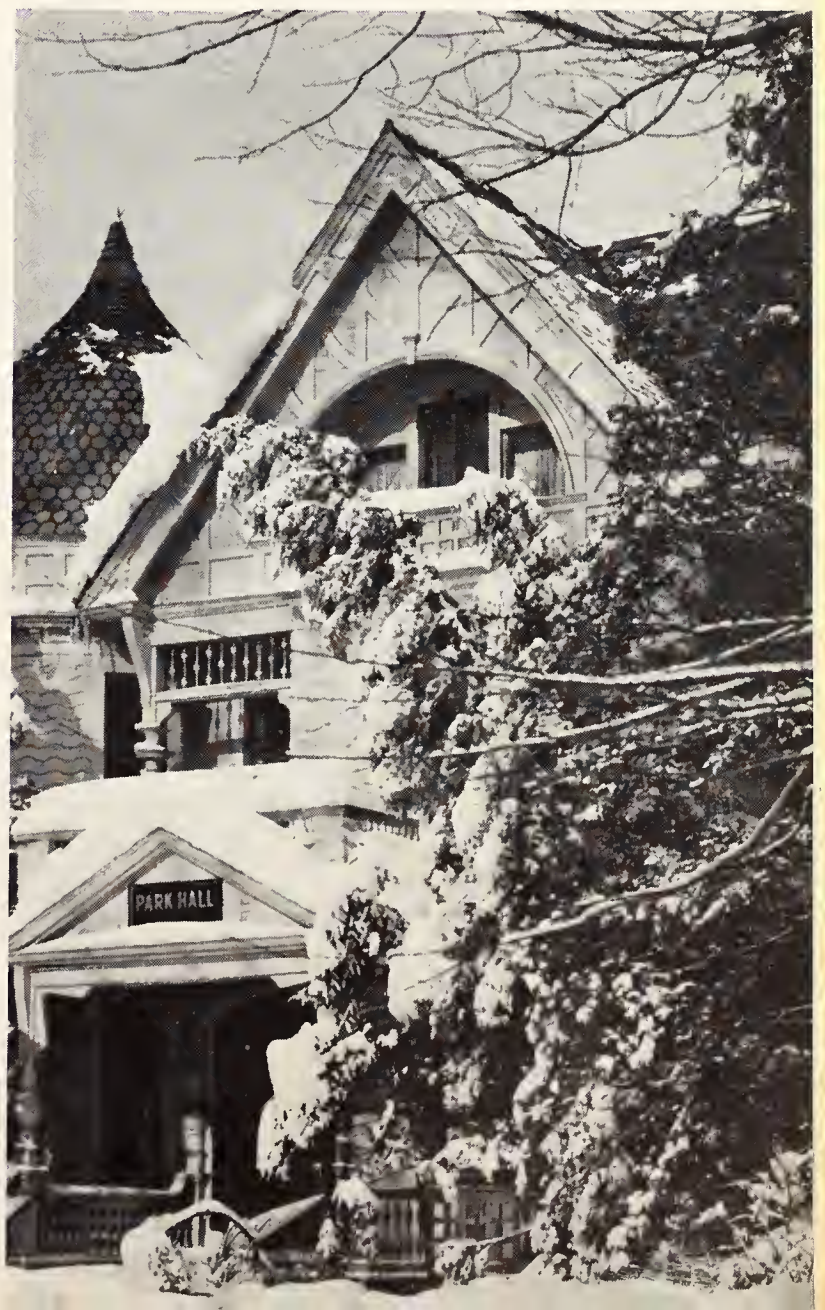
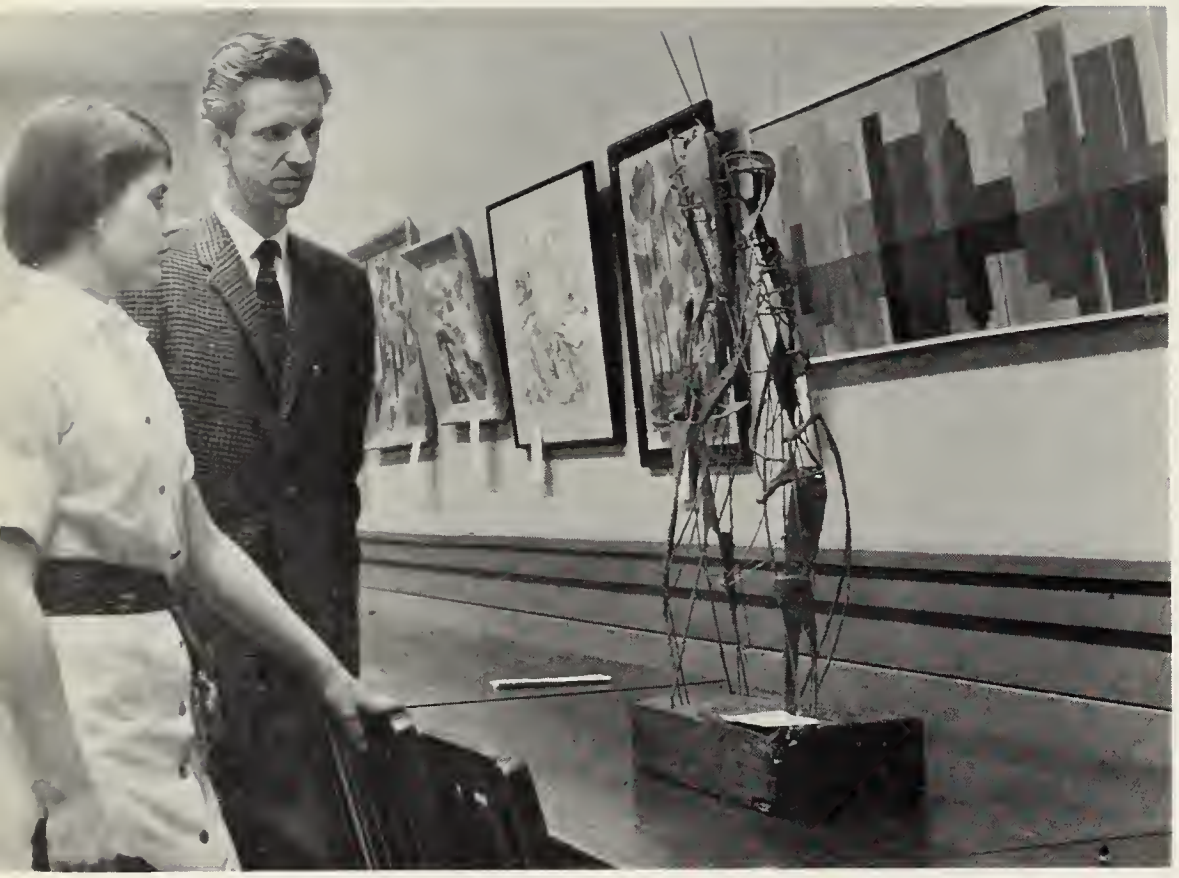
Donna Long became the 1958 Homecoming Queen at Alpha Gamma Phi's Sword and Shield dance, which began the Homecoming Weekend festivities. The gray November skies failed to dim the colorful parade held Saturday afternoon. The Kappa Beta Rho viking ship, manned by stalwart K.B.R. sailors, sailed to victory in the float contest which gave fraternity and sorority members a chance to manifest their artistic imagination and to display their creative ingenuity. Haven Hall won the dorm decorating contest for its spirited display featuring a U.B. angel poised triumphant over a New Haven Teacher's devil. At the pep rally held before the game with New Haven, which was played Saturday night, our cheerleaders and the Bridgeport





Bag Pipe Band, complete with kilts, attempted to enliven spirits despite the threatening drizzle, yet only a few people braved the rain to witness the game. A Sunday jazz concert and a student-faculty buffet ended the festive weekend. Banned in Boston, the Campus Thunder Production, which had been struggling into existence for six months, at last burst into a spectacle of splendor "Mr. D." skillfully fashioned the participants into performers of professional caliber. Capably handled comedy, colorful song and dance numbers, and excellent acting complemented the story itself, a not unusual girl-gets-boy tale, complicated by the fact that the heroine was an uninhibited burlesque queen, and the hero, a member of Boston's elite. Few of the many students and townspeople who filled the Klein Memorial Auditorium to capacity realized the effort spent in producing "Thunder". Those of us who remember seeing the red-eyed performers struggling through their classes during the long months of rehearsal; those of us who heard the tired groans of the technical crew grow to a frenzied moan as show time grew near, recognized the maximum effort needed to produce a maximum success U.B. received an encouraging vote of confidence when Charles A. Dana, industrialist and philanthropist, donated three hundred and fifty thousand dollars for the construction of a new science building. At the debating tournament in Providence, Rhode Island, the U.B. debating team defeated teams of Brown and M.I.T., furnishing a superb refutation to those in the area who still term us "Seaside High".

A few scattered snow storms called to mind Christmas tide, and the holiday spirit struggled up from beneath the mound of term papers, tests and basketball games. The Scribe and the sisters of Phi Delta Rho sponsored a drive to help retarded children. The Brothers of Alpha Pi Omega proved the most generous with their small change. This was only one of the many Christmas undertakings by various groups on campus: The Brothers of Theta Sigma provided a Christmas party for the Crippled Children's workshop, complete with Santa Clause; Sisters of Theta Epsilon caroled to the patients of Hillside Home for the aged; members of the Inter-fraternity Council decorated a Christmas tree in front of Cortwright Hall; the A Cappella Choir, the University Community Orchestra, the brass choir, and skilled soloists combined their efforts to produce the stirring sound of the annual Christmas Concert. December twelfth marked the opening of the season for the first U.B. badminton team. This event was obscurred by the Christmas Ball which began the Winter Formal Weekend. Duke Ellington provided music for the occasion; Shirley Sabo, 1958 Snowflake Queen, provided the glamour. The wave of science-consciousness found its way to U.B. via the National Defense Student Loan Program which will be made available to students next year. This program offers loans to full time students in good standing. Preference is made towards students who plan to teach or study mathematics, science, or language. The College of Nursing acquired a sizable government grant, which will enable it to offer more scholarships on a graduate or post graduate level. December also marked the end of a highly successful soccer season, blemished by only a single loss. The season included games against Yale, Boston University, and the University of Connecticut. Hans Zucker, received the most valuable player award from his teammates. The Debating Team echoed its previous triumphs at the NYU Tournament, defeating Queens College and Wesleyan.

Students returning from Christmas vacation braced themselves for a two weeks cramming period before exams, and many were unaware of the subtle changes going on about them. Fairfield Hall, former site of drafty classrooms and faculty offices, met the fate of all that stand in the way of progress. For a few days the sulking hulk of what once had been a proud mansion offered local children a chance to release hostilities by the rock-through-a-window method; the building was completely demolished to make way for the new science building. Changes took place at Marina: the food remained the same, but music was added. The final student grumble of first semester came from the boys who had to sacrifice their bohemian State Street dwellings and move into the new boys dormitory.

PARIS

Grey skies arched over greying snow cast a melancholy mood over the campus at the beginning of second semester, but student spirit somehow managed to penetrate the gloom in a few lively incidents. Robert Sillman, a freshman majoring in French, played the leading role in an interesting drama performed in conjunction with National Foreign Language Week, February 15-21. Mr. Dillman, assuming the identity of "Jean Paul Meunier", stepped off a train in Bridgeport Station, and speaking only French attempted to wrest information from the conductor. After attracting a crowd of onlookers, many of whom bombarded "Jean" with fragments of their high school French, the hapless "Frenchman" was conveyed to the Barnum Hotel. From there, he managed to find his way to a department store where he laboriously purchased a sport shirt. The experiment was completed when "Jean" asked a confused cab driver to convey him to "L'Universitie de Bridgeport."

The Scribe became the scene of a heated debate on the advantages and disadvantages of "beatnik" philosophy. Participating students responded vigorously with the surprisingly intellectual arguments on the essence of this cult and its place in our society. Friday the thirteenth, long an object of dread to superstitious persons, brought well deserved good fortune to Ivory-complexed Sandra McLellan, who became Campus Sweetheart at the Sweetheart Ball held that night. Pat Dorn furnished the music, and the proximity of Valentine's Day furnished the mood for a highly successful evening.

The Interfraternity Council proved itself capable of more than maintaining peace between rival fraternities and sororities.

Five of its members volunteered to teach at the Crippled Children's Workshop during the week that the regular teachers took their vacations.

Sportwise, the season was livened by a hairbreadth 86-84 victory over our arch-rival Fairfield University. Few of us who saw the game will forget Ed Wysocki's shooting a basket in the last two seconds of the game.

Pledging helped to renew student spirit during the mid-semester slump. Young aspirants, tired, harassed, but happy, traversed the campus in their colorful, painfully-conspicious costumes. During the weeks of pledging one could find the hapless pledges "bussing" trays in Alumni Hall, stuffing envelopes in the Crippled Children's Workshop, or attempting to study in a dark niche in the library. Four pledges of Sigma Lambda Chi Fraternity, while on their pledge trip, were spotlighted on the front page of the Sentinel, Lewiston, Pennsylvania's newspaper.

The basement of Allumni Hall witnessed more than the usual antics of the coke and T. V. crowd this year. On Wednesday afternoons the Psychology Society, a group of students interested in the science, convened to hear guest lecturers speak on psychology and its applications to life.

"Time of the Cuckoo," the annual spring play revealed some new sources of talent, particularly among the freshmen. The cast, laboring under the difficulties of the Italian accent, managed to handle the intricacies of the play with surprising skill.

Easter vacation provided a welcome respite from classes, and students retired to enjoy the balmy spring weather, with the exception of members of the A Cappella Choir, who volunteered three days of their vacation to tour Long Island.

The week of April 26-May 3 witnessed the first annual Arts Festival, designed to stimulate student interest in the humanities. An art exhibition, composed of student endeavors, together with the distribution of Helicon, a student literary magazine in which the intellectuals on campus manifest their abilities through a series of abstract poems and thought provoking stories, opened the festival. On April 27 students braved the rain to wait in line for admittance to the showing of "Oedipus Rex", a film performed by the Stratford Ontario's players. Lectures by Dr. Squires and Dr. Van der Kro, occupied the next two days. On May 2, "Seven Actors in Search of a Style," written and directed by Al Dickenson, was presented in the Drama Center. A French Club presentation of scenes from plays by Moliere and Coineille followed. At Alumni Hall, the A Capella Choir added melodic overtones to the events. Edith Thor, editor of the Helicon, together with Mickey Etter and Michael Summers, virtually organized and made possible the entire festival.

The Interfraternity Council suceeded in squelching fraternity and sorority rivalries long enough to produce, by united effort, the best all-campus weekend of the year. On Friday afternoon, enterprising, if unskillfull, students gathered on the lawn of Alumni Hall to construct booths for the carnival. That evening, for our slim dime, revelers were able to douse their classmates with shaving cream or wet sponges, or test their skills on more intellectual pursuits such as fishing for milk bottles. Nancy Wysinski, who cast a hush over crowded Alumni Hall with her moving rendition of Revoluntionary Etude, became I.F.C. Queen at the masquerade ball held Saturday. A picnic climaxed the weekend.

Arnold Mead, a junior majoring in history, wrote and sold a book describing strategical and tactical movement of troops during a war between two hypothetical countries.

The steel skeleton of the new science building loomed forlornly incomplete during an extensive carpenter's strike this spring.

With the advent of May the campus put on a colorful costume of dogwood and forsythia; classes moved outdoors; students succumbed to the call of the sea and the sun and mass migrated to the beach. Election campaign posters further colored the campus as the first all student election for Student Council president began. Disappointingly few students attended the opening of the campaign in the gym to hear the hopeful representative and presidential candidates state their platforms, but a record-breaking number of votes appeared at the polls. Fred Dauer, an engineering student, became president of Student Council, and campaigning continued for representative.

Hot damp air lay mercilessly over U.B. on Wednesday, May 20, Charter Day. The dormitories, Alumni Hall, and the library closed driving students, uncomfortable in skirts or shirts and ties to the convocation honoring Charles A. Dana, who made possible our new science building. Doctor Dolan led the impressive processional of gowned faculty to the stage of the gymnasium where he received a citation for Teacher of the Year. The program ended with a lively, mercifully brief address by Mr. Dana, who received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree.

Seniors donned formal attire for their last University of Bridgeport Dance, the Wisteria Ball. Lester Lanin's performance enlivened the romantic mood of a moon drenched evening. Following the dance, students participated in various parties and picnics, then settled down to prepare for the immediate onslaught of exams, which marked the close of another year here at U.B.

Board of Trustees

Each year the Wistarian includes in its publication a picture of the Board of Trustees and a few words to explain what this group means to the students. As a policy making board the Trustees have absolute power, a fact that nearly all the students recognize, but this year the Wistarian would like to pay special tribute to the Board for their efforts towards the building of our new science building. Charles A. Dana has donated a large sum of money, but there are many others who deserve credit for their work. The University of Bridgeport Board of Trustees is one such group, which has spent untold hours in discussion and planning, leading to their responsibility of making the University's decisions. Few of us in the future will thank the Board for what they have created for us, but perhaps this page of the Yearbook will make more of us cognizant of our benefactors.

Social Activities Committee

As an introduction to the Social Events section of the Yearbook, it is appropriate that the Wistarian should present the hardworking Social Activities Committee. It is their responsibility to coordinate and plan for the major University-sponsored social events each year. In addition to giving many teas for queen candidates, the Committee arranges the Snowflake, Sweetheart, and Wistaria Balls. As always the success of the organization has depended upon the efforts of Mrs. Hotchkiss and the officers of the Committee.

Freshman Week

As an Indian Summer day played host to the class of 1962, the view of the ocean beyond Seaside Park was a welcome and comforting sight to the apprehensive Frosh. An undertone of excitement prevailed as the Freshman began to wend their way to various designated points. The buying of beanies and nametags was the first official duty of the neophytes, then on to their guide groups. The week of orientation thus began with the usual confusion, but as always the enigma of a new and delightful experience brought a rewarding introduction to their first days on the University campus.

The week was crammed with entertainment and the tedious, but unavoidable, processes of examination, convocation, and the like, but the Freshman Ball put the finishing touches on a beautiful week. The crowning of the Freshman Queen, Miss Harriet Zitren, seemed a fitting conclusion to the six-day introduction of the Freshman to the University.

The house lights dimmed; the murmer of voices sank; finally, the curtain rose. Campus Thunder of 1958 had begun. The plot of the play unfolded effortlessly sparkled with songs, dances, and comedy. The audience sympathized with Snow White, the burlesque queen, product of Scully Square and Radcliff, as she tried to break the social barrier and win the heart of Taylor Redman Van Noyes of Beacon Hill. Erwin, the stage manager, together with the jovial wardrobe mistress, drew chuckles from the audience, but the subtle laughter swelled in volume as the Thunderettes, led by ponderous John Scully, performed their artfully graceless dances. The show closed magnificently with a splendid finale, The White Circus Dream. Colored lights played softly on the cast dressed in silver-speckled white costumes, and the sound of song soared to the arched ceiling of the Klein Memorial Auditorium announcing the end of another highly successful Campus Thunder. The audience had been amused, removed from the very real world of classes or work for an all too brief three hours, but few realized at what cost this had been achieved.

The idea of "Banned in Boston," this year's production, was born sometime in midsummer when Director Al Dickenson wrote the script for the comedy, then songwriters were given the problem of providing original scores to interweave into the story. Two hundred hopeful students appeared at the initial casting tryouts early in October. From these students a committee of Knights of Thunder veterans chose performers, then the script had to be revised slightly to allow the chosen few to give more unrestricted rein to their talents. A month before opening night Mr. D. increased rehearsals to seven nights a week. A telling, strained expression began to mark the faces of the cast, many of whom trudged to rehearsals with their books and substituted study breaks for coffee breaks during the tedious period. As the show time approached to a mere two weeks away, confusion increased and tension climbed. The technical crew searched frantically for a way to shoot Lucy Wysinski, leading lady, out of a cannon in the second act. Mr. D. was assaulted by many problems in staging and in handling his cast. The entire cast and crew moved into the Klein, and began the difficult job of transferring all they had painfully learned to their new surroundings. Then, just as the cast seemed ready to totter under the oppressive burden of lost sleep and tattered nerves — show time! New energy rose from unknown depths to give this years Campus Thunder the vivacity and candor which marked it for success.

Student Council

The Student Council is the major governing body of the student population. This year President Andrew Mitchell and Joseph O'Brien, President pro-tempore, presided at meetings. Charles Dragonette, Treasurer, and Shirley Sabo, Secretary, gave invaluable assistance as members of the executive committee.

Most of the Student Council's energies this year were focused on providing a just proportioning of funds to various organizations. Members of the Council attempted to have the University assume financial responsibility for student monographs and the Debating Society.

A revolutionary change in student government was made when the Council voted to have future Student Council presidents elected by the student body rather than by the Council itself.

Mr. Mitchell and the executive committee extend best wishes to the new Council for a successful year.

Wistarian

If modesty should be the only trait of a hard working group whose efforts are once annually displayed in a publication which awaits its critics, then the copy on this page should be omitted — in anticipation of your judgement. But since the Wistarian staff has been often criticized for its boldness and dictatorial policies (e.g. Albert, why the hell didn't you show up for your picture?), we have decided to be a little presumptuous and write our own plaudits. The 1958 Wistarian was generally accorded to be the best yearbook published by the University; we are confident that the 1959 book will surpass even the success of the 1958 book.

The year started with a large turnout, over forty people expressing an interest in working on the staff. Editor Huestis was in 7th Heaven and even the always reserve Art Editor, Bob Stumpek looked with confidence to an enjoyable working year. Then the let-down. As always, in the final analysis, a few people did the bulk of the work, but those few individuals can be truly proud of the end result. The staff awaits your verdict, but regardless of your opinions, they feel that this publication is worthy of its lasting place on the University's book shelves.

From an obscure corner behind the cafeteria the click of typewriters signals the heart beat of student spirit here at the University of Bridgeport. Here in the dim, unpretentious offices students thoughts, hopes, and criticisms are collected and set to print. From this seemingly ineffectual observation point all student activities are noted and compiled.

The Scribe, student newspaper, which is released every Thursday that classes are in session, provides a wash-line on which students air their griefs concerning the administration, their curriculum, or each other. The Scribe relates any events of importance to the University with clarity and trusted authenticity. This year a news survey column, new addition to the Scribe, gave information concerning events on an international scale.

Besides being an interesting publication, the Scribe provides experience for those students interested in making a career of journalism. Under the guidance of Mr. Jacobson students apply ideas formed in journalism class to print.

Alpha Phi Omega was founded on December 16, 1925, at Lafayette College; The Theta Psi Chapter was organized at U. B. in May, 1950.

A. P. O. has the distinction of being the only national fraternity on campus. The influx of veterans to the college campus gave A. P. O. its start, and it has continued as a service fraternity since its founding. It fulfills its role by rendering many worthwhile services to the school, student body, and to the community.

We of the fraternity know only too well the necessity of intermixing service and social events. Many social functions are, therefore, woven into our yearly program.

Interfraternity relationships are encouraged through the yearly "Ugly Man" contest, and the Ugly Man Dance. The Wistaria Ball, the most important social event on campus, has been given much attention by our brothers during the last two years. We have put in many hours decorating our table, and our efforts have been rewarded by our winning Wistaria Ball trophy for the past two years.

The Freshman-week committee, the Science-building committee, the Blood Bank, and many other service-rendering organizations have all seen A. P. O. in action.

A Capella Choir

The thirty-voice A Capella Choir, under the direction of Professor Earl Sauerwein, has for the past several years been singing for local civic groups, Connecticut high schools, and University of Bridgeport functions. This year's choir members, besides singing at several local engagements, spent the first four days of our Easter vacation in March taking a little bit of UB to Long Island in our first extended concert tour. The tour was a tremendous success as an instrument of public relations for the University. The choir received great applause for its performances, and choir members thought the tour a very enjoyable experience. More trips of this nature will be scheduled in future years.

Once again the yearbook would like to recognize the efforts of the tireless group known as the Alumni Hall Board of Directors. The organization, made up of student members under the direction of the advisors, plans and sponsors several social gatherings in Alumni Hall throughout the year. At first, coffee breaks and jazz concerts were offered, but during the winter a successful Faculty-Student-Staff Buffet was held. The climax of the year's activities was the Weekend-on-a-Dollar, held in conjunction with the Interfraternity Council.

This group has been considered one of the most select on campus because of its power in controlling the social affairs of the school and the methods for membership which have been established. It is an elected position, and the members have usually been considered the campus leaders.

Debating Society

The University Debating Society was inaugurated in 1947 as an outlet for students interested in learning and practicing the techniques of the ancient forensic art.

It has not only proved itself a training ground for lawyers, teachers, and other professional personnel dependent upon speech, but has attracted many members for the pure enjoyment experienced from its activities.

Debating tournaments held within the New England area are frequent means for this social action. Schools from the area include Wesleyan, St. Joseph's, Smith College, Hartford University, Maine, Brown, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Holy Cross.

Occasionally, the opportunity is presented to extend these inter-actions and participate outside this area — New York University, Hofstra, Columbia, St. John's, Princeton, Georgetown, Hobart, University of Florida, and Mercer University.

This is the fourth year of the Reorganized Debating Society. Again the group had a successful year, the highlight coming when the Society conducted a debating tournament on the University campus.

The prime purpose of the Political Relations Forum is to foster the opportunities for partaking in the study and practical applications of politics. It is to this goal that all activities are geared, thereby enabling those who participate a knowledge and appreciation of the political responsibilities of citizenship in our democratic society.

The immediate duties of the Forum are forming and maintaining election, policy, conducting campus elections of class officers, queens, etc., and giving aid to campus organizations in drafting and revising their constitutions.

Active participation in the Connecticut Intercollegiate Student Legislature is a major activity of the Forum. Each year representatives from sixteen Connecticut colleges meet in the capitol building in Hartford. Members of the "mock" assembly assume the duties of actual representatives and senators, through election and appointment. Each school submits two bills, which are subject to debate on the floor of both legislative houses.

This year the University was honored in having Andre Guilbert elected Registration Chairman and Joanna Miska appointed Senate Chairman of the Education Committee.

The Circle K Club was chartered by the Bridgeport chapter of Kiwanis International, October 31, 1958, at formal ceremonies at the University of Bridgeport. The Charter members were selected by their respective Deans for their leadership qualities and scholastic achievements. Kiwanis president, Jack Jensen, presented the charter to Circle K president, Bob Moran, witnessed by assembled guests and dignitaries. The original Charter Group was composed of 15 members, representing the various Colleges on campus.

The Circle K Club was formed at the University of Bridgeport for the purpose of furthering youth through civic and school service projects. The ideals of Circle K are like those of its parent organization — Kiwanis.

Women's House Government

The Women's House Government with its counter-part Men's Senate, acts as the spokesman for the dormitory students on the University campus. With representatives from each floor of the dormitories, the girls provide the students with a governing body. Minor infractions of rules are discussed by this group and in cases of liability, punishments are meted out. In the last two years the group has proved to be very effective and its continued success seems certain. Another important factor is the group's mediating position between the students and the administration under the guidance of Dr. Claire Fulcher. The future of this organization is bright and we all look forward to another successful year.

The Men's Senate is composed of two representatives from each of twelve residence halls. Led by President Dan Joffee and Mr. Alphonse Sherman, the advisor, the group is primarily concerned with the welfare of the male dormitory student. The organization's close ties with the administration provide this group with an effective means for airing the complaints of the students. It is hoped that in the future this organization will be as successful as it has been this past year.

The Canterbury Association, one of the newest groups on campus, is a nationwide student organization on a college level conducted under the auspices of the Episcopal Church. Its purpose is to promote Christian fellowship at the University through social service, educational, and worship activities. The group has been quite active in its short existence, highlighted by the Fall and Spring weekends which the Canterbury Association spent at conferences.

For the past several years the University has been proud of the close ties between the community and the college. Especially active in this direction have been the many religious organizations on campus. One of these groups which has done much towards the fellowship between college and community is Hillel.

Hillel was founded in 1955 and has grown steadily since that time into an organization that the school is proud to recognize. Under the careful eyes of the advisor, Professor Charles Jacobs, and the officers, the organization has completed another successful year, appropriately indicated by the increase in members. Hillel usually holds one meeting a week, providing the members with programs of both a religious and social nature. To enable this program to be effective, the Jewish Community Center of Bridgeport has graciously allowed the members of Hillel to use its facilities.

To this end it sponsors convocations, study and discussion groups, and lectures. The Advisor and the program are sponsored by the Council of Churches of Greater Bridgeport. The Association is also related to the Student Christian Movement. This has been a successful year for the association under the personal direction of Mr. Mowat, the advisor.

Lectures on the history and customs of the Orthodox and the Divine Liturgy are presented by our spiritual advisor, Rev. Victor F. George of St. Nicholas's Syrian Orthodox Church of Bridgeport. Discussions are also held on any questions submitted by the students.

Social activities are held in conjunction with various Eastern Orthodox organizations throughout the Bridgeport area. The meetings are held on the first three Wednesdays of the month in Alumni Hall. Students and their friends are cordially invited to attend these open meetings.

Phi Omicron Upsilon

Phi Omicron Upsilon, Dental Hygiene Sorority, recently reorganized in anticipation of future nationalization, had another successful year. Its purpose is to promote fellowship and unity among the dental hygiene students in relation to the dental profession. The sorority took the initiative this year in promoting the organization on a national level and is now awaiting confirmation of its application. The University is proud of the record achieved by the sorority, and everyone hopes that it will continue its successful ways.

The Women's Athletic Association provides a program of various activities for the sports minded girls on campus. Teams from dormitories, sororities, and commuting areas participated in this year's program, which proved very successful. In the fall the W. A. A. held its annual banquet for the awarding of trophies.

The highlight of the season was the sponsoring of a field hockey playday for the school in the local Bridgeport area, during which about 150 girls participated.

The large enrollment of the organization has again made it one of the most active and prominent on campus.

Who's Who

There are always a few students on campus who stand out among the leaders. Each year these individuals are honored by the University by being elected to the annual edition of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities". The members have been chosen because of their leadership, scholarship, and ability to create new projects. The annual publication recognizes their achievements, but the school is the benefactor of their tireless efforts. It is truly an honor for the school to have such men and women on campus.

Knights of Thunder

The Knights of Thunder was organized in February, 1948, with their State Charter accepted on August 28, 1951, as an honorary dramatic fraternity. The purpose of the fraternity is to provide recognition to those individuals who have done most for the school through the art of dramatics. It also gives the student body an incentive to become active in campus productions. Because of the large number of alumni, the organization helps to promote interest between the community and the university. Under the direction of President June Bartram the group has completed another successful year.

Until the last two years the Ski Club has been relatively inactive, but since this time the organization has been very successful. Beginning soon after school started, the club began to make plans for the winter season. Under the direction of Mr. James Fenner, advisor, the group began its activities during the Christmas vacation. At first the weather was not advantageous for the best skiing conditions, but shortly after the mid-semester vacation the season started in earnest. Many trips were made to Vermont, Maine, and New Hampshire, mostly for the day, but on several occasions weekend visits were planned.

The number of a club of this sort determines its strength. If the club can continue to grow as it has in the past two years, the organization can plan more extensive activities.

Student Spirit

Student Spirit found itself this year with a major undertaking; that of Homecoming Weekend in conjunction with the Social Activities Committee. The weekend proved to be the best one yet, and it is certain to get better in the future. The only dark spot of the weekend came when the U.B. football team went down in bitter defeat at the hands of the strong New Haven team. The Saturday afternoon motorcade followed by the dance in Alumni after the game proved to be a big succcess. The jazz concert on Sunday was a complete sell-out.

The cheerleaders have always been considered an important part of student spirit, and their contribution to the weekend made it obvious. Also, many people, too numerous to mention, helped to make the weekend as good as it was.

The Engineering Society of the University of Bridgeport was established in 1947 by engineering students interested in the advancement and dissemination of knowledge of the theory and practice of engineering, the presentation of a proper perspective of engineering works, and opportunity to promote professional consciousness and fellowship among students of the University of Bridgeport, College of Engineering.

This year the Society boasts an active membership of 106 engineering students who have participated in field trips to the Bridgeport Brass Company, Hulls of New Haven, the Esso Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Ballantine of Newark, New Jersey, and the Southern New England Telephone Company.

Active participation at such functions as the American Society of Professional Engineers banquet broadened the scope of the society members.

The Industrial Design Society was formed in 1952 to promote interest and education in the art-design curriculum. Norseman Hall, home of I.D. students, provides them with a modern drawing studio equipped to handle all their problems. An exhibit this spring gave the student body as a whole an opportunity to see the work of the art-design students. Plans are also being formulated to meet with two other design schools in the East so that technique and workmanship may be compared. Academically, the year was a success, and the social highlight of the year was a Halloween party.

Pi Gamma Mu

Pi Gamma Mu, functioning this year with the Sociology Colloquium, is the National honorary Social Science Fraternity. Last year with the Political Relations Forum joining it, the Society had a large membership and an active social calendar. The highlight of the year was the annual banquet at the end of the school year. It is hoped that the future will be bright for this worthy group in their endeavors to honor those who have been active in the social sciences.

Sailing Club

Another new organization on campus is the Sailing Club. Started because of the interest shown by a few girls who have competed in the annual Women's Intercollegiate Sailing Regatta for the past two years, the Club looks forward to next year and a bigger membership. The Club's activities this past year were restricted to informal sailing excursions, but with the expected addition of more boats next year the club may be able to organize some competitive meets. Many well-wishers for this new organization are looking forward to hearing of their accomplishments in the years to come.

Bringing first-hand information to students majoring in Marketing is a very important purpose of the Marketing Club, which was organized in 1950. Several leaders in various fields of business present topics of current methods in marketing to the members of the club. A job placement bureau of the American Marketing Association is maintained by the club. The club was fortunate this year to have guest speakers such as Edward Delventhal, who spoke on stock and bonds, and Mr. Fielding of McKessons and Robbins, who talked on advertising. The club had an active membership of thirty-five students.

The Student Education Association is composed of students majoring in education or planning to enter the education profession. It endeavors to acquaint the prospective teacher with problems and challenges facing education today.

Students, working in conjunction with the Connecticut Education Association and other colleges throughout the state and nation, have a unique opportunity to observe and participate in actual in-service situations as they arise. Frequent state-wide and national conferences are held so that students may meet and exchange ideas and views. Such problems as ethics, professional standards, and salaries are discussed.

Working closely with local in-service, professional organizations, the prospective teacher is given the opportunity to become well acquainted with his profession before graduation.

The Biology Society began in 1947; because of the continued interest of its members, the society has grown into the worthwhile organization we see today. The Society, under the leadership of Charles A. Wheeler, Jr., President is designed to further the interests of its members in the field of Biological Sciences. The organization has promoted numerous activities which include such things as convocations, field trips, movies, and the annual Exotic Dinner.

The trips taken by the club include such places as the Museum of Natural History, the Aquarium, and other places of biological interest within a radius of 100 miles.

Since its inception, the French Club has endeavored to sustain an interest in language study by introducing to the student a comprehensive view of past and contemporary culture.

The club is fast becoming an integral feature of the language curriculum. Any student may join this club who is a student of the French language by attending the first meeting in the fall.

In the past years the group has been small, but through the efforts of Dr. Rassias the club has expanded. In the first few weeks of this year the club has more than doubled its membership.

Each year the club puts on a play for the benefit of the student body, but interest is usually limited to French students since the entire program is in French.

Their purpose is to supplement the courses offered by the University of Bridgeport by providing an opportunity for developing intellectual curiosity and scholarly habits by encouraging cooperative activities within the technical areas of psychology and related fields. The Society, now in its developmental stage, has great potential for contributing to the University.

Freshman Week Committee

Welcome Freshmen! Each year the Freshman Week Committee organizes a schedule of events to entertain the newcomers to UB campus. Once again the week proved to be a great success. President Halsey and Vice President Littlefield greeted the incoming freshmen and their parents at a tea held in the dining hall. Neophites donned their beanies as the week began. Convocations, a picnic, a jazz concert under the stars, and a record hop kept social activities at a lively pace. The most successful Freshman Ball ever witnessed climaxed the week. Freshmen began their social life at UB in earnest at the Ritz Ballroom where a packed house danced until the next morning. Aside from being a social success, Freshman Week helps direct those individuals into a common bond, which was found in the newformed class of '62.

Bridgettes

The Bridgettes, a new group at the University, led by Captain Brenda Gafney, hold their practices on Monday nights and Saturday afternoons in preparation for U.B.'s football games. They are an active part of the band and provide entertainment at the half time of the football games.

Until the fall of 1956 the Bridgettes were strictly a marching corps with little or no baton twirling activities. At that time Brenda Gaffney organized and started the trend toward less marching and more emphasis on baton twirling and entertainment. It is hoped that in the future this will be offered in the spring semester so that it will be possible for the group to be better prepared for the early football games in the fall.

Helicon

Once again, the controversial Helicon Society made its mark on the University campus with its annual publication. Under the direction of Dr. Milton Millhauser, students were encouraged to submit articles to the society for publication in the 1959 edition. This year's authors, displaying their exceptional literary talents, received more than the usual advertisement when an onymous individual wrote a satirical sequel. The commotion started a chain reaction of criticism and praise directed at the Society from all corners of the University.

The staff of the Helicon is to be congratulated for their successful publication. The few dissatisfied individuals who attacked the magazine should in the following years either hold their criticism in reserve or make a more positive step by joining one of the three literary organizations on campus so that the University can benefit from their talents.

Parlimentary Procedure Workshop

To most of the students on campus a rejuvenated interest in politics was the story of the year at the University of Bridgeport. Such slogans as "Down with Nepotism" and "Nepotism is better than Despotism" provided the students with an enthusiastic topic for discussion and argument. But one of the underlying forces contributing to this interest which was not quite as obvious was the newly formed Parlimentary Procedure Workshop. Under the direction of the school's leading faculty politician, Professor William T. DeSiero, the organization took form and set an example which should be followed by all. The primary purpose of the class was to give all would-be politicians and group leaders some practical training in the application of Robert's Rules of Parliamentary Procedure. Mock meetings were held and gradually the class grew to a substantial size. Much of the credit is due to the efforts of Chairman Eugene Dowling.

"Wie Geht's?" This German greeting appears more often on the U.B. campus than in a classroom. It is this traditional German hello, used upon meeting a person, that opens the Deutsche Klub.

The club's purpose is to broaden knowledge of the German language and culture among its members. Under this statement falls a varied and full program at monthly meetings each year.

From the first "Wie geht's?" of the year to the last "Auf Wiedersehen," the club had a successful accomplishment in the pursuit of German culture.

The Sports Car Club includes some of the best, small event, sports car drivers in the state. After participation in the Connecticut State Championship Gymkhana, Dave Marks is ranked fourth in the state, Marty Halpart fifth, and Dallas Molerin sixth.

This club remains active throughout the summer months to enable its members to meet and compete under the banner of the U.B.S.C.C.

Interfraternity Council

OFFICERS

The Interfraternity Council is the governing body of the Greek letter organizations on campus. Good will and cooperation have been the keynotes of the Council since its founding in 1947. The original constitution was ratified in 1948, and the present expanded constitution, under which the Interfraternity Council operates, was ratified in 1956.

The Interfraternity Council's position as governing body for all social fraternities and sororities establishes the basic qualifications for membership in the several fraternities, and fraternity membership in the Council. The Council serves also to develop and maintain a code of general conduct for the external affairs of the member fraternities, and to plan the University social calendar for the coming year.

The Interfraternity Council weekend, held annually in the late spring, is highlighted by a Greek Letter Dance at which time a girl is elected as queen on a talent basis.

The Council has endeavored to bring about a close harmony in the relations, not only of its members, but with the faculty and administration. This unified action has resulted in the progress not only of the Council but of the entire fraternity-sorority system on this campus.

Sigma Phi Alpha was the first fraternity to be chartered on the University of Bridgeport campus, receiving its charter October 3, 1947. Sigma Phi Alpha has always been a leader in everything it has undertaken.

In addition it annually awards a $100 Athletic Scholarship, the Morton Levy, in memory of a fraternity alumnus who died while in the service of his country.

Through scholarship, fellowship, and athletics, Sigma Phi Alpha has proved that individuals can participate in campus extra-curricular activities, and can, at the same time, maintain high scholastic standards. Many of UB's best athletes are members of SPA, and their grades are comparatively high.

Once again, the annual dance, "Cottonball Caper", was the social success of the season.

Among the honors achieved by the members of Theta Epsilon are election to Student Council, representation in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities," the 1958 Alumni "Outstanding Freshman" award, and past and present Wistaria Queens, Campus Sweethearts, and Homecoming Queens. The spirit of fellowship is extended to the community by charity projects such as an annual drive for Cystic Fibrosis, and a Christmas trip to the Hillside Home, and the difficult undertaking of entering a float in the 1958 Barnum Festival Parade. Under honest, critical self-analysis, the sorority constantly strives to improve its objectives, organization, and policies. Founded in November 1948, Kappa Beta Rho has been growing stronger as the years pass. In the past three years it has placed itself among the leaders of fraternity organizations at the university in academic, social, and student spirit functions.

One of its outstanding attributes is the intense feeling of unity that prevails among its brothers.

This year Kappa Beta Rho's annual Kappa Kickoff Dance proved to be another highly successful social function as it always has in the past years. During Homecoming Weekend, Kappa Beta Rho worked with superior spirit on their "Viking Float" which enabled them to win the Homecoming Trophy for the second year in succession.

Kappa Beta Rho has always taken an active interest in intramural sports, having retired the trophy for softball after winning the championship for three years.

The spring semester's calendar was dotted with pledging, the Friends and Alumni Dance, and full participation in university drives and activities.

Theta Sigma Fraternity, founded at the University of Bridgeport upon fellowship and loyalty to one another, has developed in its members the highest qualities of leadership which is exemplified by the innumerable offices and positions of responsibility held in the history of the University by Theta Sigma men. Each year Theta Sigma adds to its list of civic and social activities. This year the Playboy Dance and the Charter Day fund-raising campaign headed the list of additions. Among the traditional events were the party for the Crippled Childrens' Workshop, the semi-annual pledge week with its men in tux, the annual W. C. Grubney Award, and the homecoming and reunion weekends for its alumni.

Theta Sigma is equally proud of its honorary members including President James H. Halsey, Dr. Henry W. Littlefield, Mr. Albert A. Dickason, Dr. Alfred R. Wolff, Dr. Clarence D. L. Ropp, Mr. Francis Dolan, Dr. John Gunther, and Mr. George Stanley. Fraternity members maintain their close bonds of fellowship upon graduation by becoming active in a strong alumni association which was founded by the founders of Theta Sigma. The continued success of Theta Sigma Fraternity from its origin in 1947 may be attributed to an unyielding devotion to fellow members and to the Fraternity name.

Sigma Lambda Chi was organized in the fall of 1950 on the principles of scholarship, fellowship, and brotherhood. Since its inception, it has encouraged integrity, loyalty, and fraternity regardless of race or creed.

Advocating leadership and responsibility in the interest of the University, members of Sigma Lambda Chi have been associated with the administration in the integral growth of the University of Bridgeport through participation in extra-curricular activities. The efforts of its members to enhance the prestige of the school have always stood out as one of the many fine characteristics of the Fraternity. The devotion of the Fraternity to high ideals expresses their desire to achieve and accounts for their many successes.

Sigma Lambda Chi has established several precedents which have become traditional at the University. Straw-hatted, bow-tied pledges, seen twice a year on campus, and the annual dance held in April are synonymous with Sigma Lambda Chi.

Upsilon Beta Sigma fraternity was founded in 1949, and at that time was the United Brotherhood Society. Its purpose was to promote a spirit of brotherhood and friendship among people of various creeds and races. Many programs were initiated to help achieve this purpose of brotherhood. Included among these were the sponsoring of a number of lectures on brotherhood.

During the year, 1951, the name was changed to the Greek letters of Upsilon Beta Sigma. It was accepted in the school as an active fraternity, the purpose of brotherhood remaining unchanged. Until 1956 the fraternity was composed almost entirely of Engineering and Industrial Design students; however, a serious and successful attempt was then made to include member from all colleges of the University. UBS is continuing its many responsibilities on campus, dedicating its time to the growth of the University.

The Fraternity is quietly active, holding many closed parties and the traditional UBS picnic at the end of the school year.

With the organization of the fraternity revised and with the help of its faculty advisor, Mr. Merrillees, Upsilon Beta Sigma will soon be one of the most highly regarded organizations at the University of Bridgeport.

Phi Delta Rho, by advocating leadership, friendship, and scholarship among its sisters, has won the respect of other University organizations and off-campus groups. It is evident that these ideals are put into practice when the Sorority's record for the year is presented.

Creative leadership has been displayed by the sisters who represent the Sorority in various extra-curricular activities. Accompanying this cosmopolitan atmosphere is a warm bond of sisterhood that is treasured even more. While the Sorority stresses scholarship the sisters claim that their "bullsessions" about "Life — in general and in particular" have contributed more to their education than some of their courses.

Sorority traditions include a help week of pledging, climaxed by a riotous pledge trip, a rollicking party, a symobolic. candlelight ceremony at the Sound and a formal initiation dinner. P.DR. tempers its beloved affliction, "party-itis," with charitable work for the community organizations throughout the year.

From 1953, when its constitution was approved, to its present date, Sigma Omicron Sigma Fraternity has moved towards becoming one of the leading fraternities on campus. Stressing close ties in the fraternity itself, the fraternity has lent itself to small pledge classes and has achieved the ultimate in brotherhood.

Sigma Omicron Sigma looks forward to many successful affairs and sponsors an award to U.B.'s most valuable athlete late in the spring. The fraternity this year won second prize for the most outstanding float during "Homecoming Week".

Chi Zeta Rho sorority was founded in the fall of 1955 upon the principles of scholarship, leadership, friendship, and integrity. As one of the new Greek letter organizations on campus, the girls have striven to live up to their motto of "happiness through friendship". In keeping with this dedication, the members have created better understanding among people of all races, colors, and creeds. By stressing closer bonds between the University and fraternal organizations, the sorority has contributed to the solidification of the University family.

In the past four years the sorority has grown from a small initial group of eight sisters to an organization which now counts itself among the top groups on campus. Presenting one of the highest Quality Point Rations on Campus, these lovely lasses in Powder Blue coats have also been very active in other organizations on campus.

The big social affair of the year came in the spring when the sisters presented "The Beatnick Ball", an annual dance which took place at Lenny's Wagon Wheel. Much of the success may be attributed to the new sisters who were initiated into the sorority at the end of the spring semester.

Beta Gamma was founded at the University of Bridgeport on April 8, 1948. The sorority has the distinction of being the first on campus and the seventh Greek letter organization at U.B.

From its founding, the girls who wear the black and green have held prominent places in all phases of college life and have participated with enthusiasm in many community activities.

Laughter and fun were again experienced by Beta Gamma during the social events of the past year. "Chat 'n Chew" was the theme for the pledge party. The annual open dance was again a blazing opening for the B.G. weekend.

With the purpose of being a contributing factor to a good community, Beta Gamma enjoys helping institutions around this area. The sisters lend a helping hand to Hillside Home, the Red Cross, the Heart Association, and others. All these activities live up to the ideals of the motto "Vita Honoris", a life of honor.

One of the smaller fraternities on campus, Alpha Delta Omega, has chosen to remain this way, because of their desire to remain select. Since the founding of the fraternity in 1947, the group has been known for their close-knit service to the school and the community. This is best illustrated by the Fraternity motto, "Peace, Fraternity, and Justice", a self expression which embodies the very spirit on which the Fraternity was founded.

Socially the fraternity hits its peak on the night of Campus Thunder when the First Niter Dance is held. At that time all in attendance vote for their favorite actor and actress. The winners are presented Sidney awards.

Chi Sigma Delta had its charter accepted in February, 1955. It was founded to promote charity, scholarship, and fellowship among all students, regardless of race, color, or creed. The sisters of Chi Sigma Delta have spent many hours in helping various charitable organizations raise money during their seasonal drives. They have also assisted the University in its efforts to grow as a unified community.

During pledge week, prospective members may be recognized by their traditional red skirts, white blouses, and red caps.

Along with Chi Sigma Delta's full sorority work load is combined an interesting social calendar during the year. A dance and many week-end parties head the list. Our advisor, Mrs. Vander Kroef, has been of great assistance in all of our undertakings.

Chi Sigma Delta denotes joy, wisdom, and justice.

In the later months of 1947, a group of veterans united to form a social fraternity for the purpose of promoting peace, charity, scholarship, and fellowship among all men, irrespective of race, color, or creed. The name of the new organization was Alpha Gamma Phi. Since then the brothers have striven to hold these principles successfully.

This year saw the AGP Sword and Shields Dance surpass all of its previous realizations. Once again during this dance AGP sponsored the crowning of the Homecoming Queen.

In the spirit of Christmas, the brothers of AGP opened their hearts to the needy and attempted to bring happiness to an unfortunate family through their unselfish generosity. Although AGP was originally organized as a social fraternity, it is first and foremost our intent to improve our university and community.

The brothers are now looking forward to the always "gala," and sometimes "rainy," spring picnic.

Since its inception on the U.B. campus in 1947, the brothers of Pi Omega Chi have been prominent on the campus scene. The P.O.C. men have held important positions and participated with enthusiasm in many phases of campus life, including the Scribe, Student Council, Interfraternity Council, and Social Activities Committee.

On October 10, 1957, lovely Susan Kadar was presented as the Sweetheart of the fraternity at the 11th annual successful dance.

The pledges, complete with green berets, green bow ties, and home-grown goatees have brightened up the campus twice this year. Another highlight was the inspiring torch-light ceremony staged at the statue of P. T. Barnum.

Omega Sigma Rho was first introduced to the University of Bridgeport in March, 1957, and the fraternity received its approved charter on April 28, 1957. Omega Sigma Rho was organized by twenty-one men to further the principles of scholarship, brotherhood, and service. The fraternity is now composed of thirty-five brothers striving to achieve this goal.

In order to become better known, Omega Sigma Rho held its first annual "Spring Picnic" in May, 1957, and it has been continued ever since with energetic success. The other affair on the OSR calendar, which was the highlight of the year, was the "Swinging Affair".

The brothers of Omega Sigma Rho are proud of the many positions in campus activities that the brothers hold. The Fraternity has always been interested in sports and always contributes greatly to the intramural program.

On March 21, 1958, a small group of college students met in Alumni Hall on the Campus of the University of Bridgeport to form the fraternal organization known as "Iota Delta Pi" which on October 8, 1958 had its constitution accepted by the I. F. C.

Iota Delta Pi fraternity enforces truth in thought and in action to obtain the highest levels of honor; Iota Delta Pi encourages justice and an understanding of the laws of men; Iota Delta Pi symbolizes the concept of loyalty to the University and to our fraternity; Iota Delta Pi believes brotherhood to be the most human of humane traits; Iota Delta Pi considers the industrious person as most valuable to society; and in general, Iota Delta Pi expects its members to follow the constructive legacies of past generations and live up to its motto of "Non sibi sed omnibus."

Sports

Cheerleaders

When the boys of the varsity teams look back over their many victories (?), they certainly must think of the beautiful cheerleaders who led the student body in their spirited support of the teams. In most schools the cheerleading element lacks the necessary support to make it effective, but at Bridgeport everyone is proud of the job done by the girls. Patty Lambert, captain of this year's group did a wonderful job in leading the cheers and generally creating the enthusiasm necessary to carry the teams to victory. Special credit must be given to Dian Doda for her excellent display of acrobatics. Here!' Here!

We all wish the girls continued success in the future, especially since Dian will be back on the squad next year.

Football

The Purple Knights began their 1958 season under a heavy handicap. Coach Kondratovich lost many valuable members of the team unexpectedly this September. Tracy Smith, Vin Gloria and George Devon all of whom had seen action as fullbacks in the previous year were unable to rejoin the team this season. Dick Whitcomb, Dave Quagliozzi, John Aslan, Don DeBella, Dick Wright, Pete Benedetti, Tom Cupo and Andy Morgo stabilized the line this year.

For the second consecutive year George Dixon lead the team in scoring and in yards gained. Dixon scored fifty points and was followed by Captain Don Scott, who had 44 points. Dixon carried the ball on 155 plays to gain a total of 1106 yards. He lead the East in rushing and was in the top five of the nation in the rushing department, for small colleges. Dixon highlighted his sports career by being picked for the small-college All American team. Dixon then starred in the Optimist Bowl game in Tuscon Arizona, returning a kickoff for a 85 yard touchdown. He is expected to continue his football career with the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

In the opening game of the year, the Knights traveled to Northfield, Vermont, where they lost to the Norwich University Cadets, 24-8. The Purple Nights burst into a short lived lead in the opening quarter of the game as George Dixon took the opening kickoff and raced 95 yards for the first U.B. touchdown of the season. Don boosted the lead to 8-0 as he rushed for the two point after-touchdown. Before the end of the first quarter, however, Norwich had scored two touchdowns and established the lead which they continued through the game. Dixon was the chief ground gainer with 140 yards.

The Kay men next played host to the very strong Lycoming College team. After a scoreless first period, George Dixon broke loose on a 37 yard run for the first touchdown of the game. The try for the point failed and at the half the Knights were in front 6-0. Lycoming then scored in the third quarter, but U.B. regained the lead when Donahue scored from the two-yard line. Lycoming then came back with a 75 yard kickoff return to take the lead and the ball game. Although the Knights lost the game, they again dominated the play by rushing 275 yards as compared with 173 for Lycoming. Dixon alone, who gained 174 yards by rushing accounted for more than the entire Lycoming team. Dick Donini and Duane Shepard contributed fine defensive play. The Blue Devils of New Britain Teacher's College, the next invaders of Hedges Stadium were completely outclassed as the Knights won their first game of the year, 42-6. The Kay men scored two TD's in the first two periods and, with the aid of a safety, led 30-0 at the half time intermission. The Knights scored two more touchdowns in the third quarter as they went on to their lopsided victory. Mickey Donahue, who completed 7 out of 14 passes for a total of 148 yards, together with Scott, the chief running threat, highlighted the game.

The Knights next played host to the Hofstra College Dutchman, one of the best small college elevens in this area. The Dutchmen took an early 6-0 lead in the first quarter and held this score until the last two minutes of the game when they added two more touchdowns, raising the score to 22-0. Nine fumbles made by the Purple Knights accounted for our losing the game. Again the Knights out rushed their opponents 191-153. However, Hofstra gained 103 yards by passing as compared to U.B.'s 23 yards.

At Springfield, Massachusetts the four-touchdown scoring of Don Scott featured the Purple Knight's 26-24 victory over American International College. The Purple Knights scored in all four periods but had to come from behind to win. Entering the last period the Kay men were leading 18-8. A.I.C. then scored two fast TD's and added the valuable extra points to take a 24-18 lead. At this point Scott scored on a 54 yard run to tie the score. The try for two points was good as Tom Shea gathered in a Donahue pass for the conversion and the win. Although the score didn't show the one-sideness of the game, the statistics did. The Purple Knights gained 309 yards rushing while holding A.I.C. to a mere 54.

The Knights then travelled to Orange, New Jersey and defeated the Vikings of Upsala College, 14-8. The Kay men completely outclassed their opponents as they rolled up 319 yards rushing as compared to 34 for Upsala. They led in first downs 17-5. Upsala took an early, eight-point lead as they scored in the first period. The Knights came back with two TD's in the second quarter for the win. Donahue plunged from the one for the first score, and Dixon scored the other on a 20 yard run Scott was the chief ground gainer with 195 yards. The forward wall deserves much credit for this win. They were led by Ed Wakim, Walt Londergan, Dick Bonini, and Vito Rallo.

With the hope of going over the .500 mark for the first time, the Knights traveled to Boston to face a good Northeastern University team. The Purple Knights were beaten 36-8. The Kay men's chances were hurt because Don Scott could not play because of injuries. Also, Dixon was hurt in the first period and saw no action after that point.

Coach Kondratavich's forces next traveled to Waltham, Massachusetts and lost a rough game to the Brandeis Judges 14-12. The home forces scored late in the first period to take a 6-0 lead. The Knights came back to go ahead in the second quarter as Donahue scored on a quarterback sneak. The try for the points after was good, and the UB-ites were out in front 8-6 at the half time intermission. Dixon scored on a 20 yard run early in the third period to put the Kay men in front 12-8. In the closing minutes of the game, Brandeis scored the game winning TD. The Judges had six tries for the TD, as the UB-ites were guilty of four consecutive penalties with the ball on the four yard line.

A Homecoming crowd saw the Knights lose their last game of the year, 42-20 to New Haven State Teachers College. The Owls of New Haven started fast and scored two TD's in the first period to take a 14-0 lead. The Purple Knights managed to gain a tie by the time the horn sounded to end the first half. Shepard scored on a 16 yard pass play and Dixon with a 40 yard run through the entire New Haven eleven. The teachers were not to be denied this win, for they came fast in the second half to win easily.

Coach Kay will have a lot of rebuilding for next year. He has lost his entire backfield of Scott, Dixon and Donahue with the exception of fullback Shea. The forward wall will lose Shepard, Bonini, Communale, Ledit, and Dowling. Bonini and Shepard have been the main stays of the line the past three years and will be tough to replace.

Freshman Football

Coach Bob Di Spirito, at the helm of the Freshman football team for the first time, turned in a record of two wins, one loss and one tie. Frank DePaolo and Andy Morgo served as able assistants to Coach Di Spirito, who came to the University of Bridgeport after starring at Rhode Island University.

The Frosh opened their season in a disappointing fashion, dropping a close 8-6 decision to the freshmen of Hofstra. The junior Knights out-rushed and out-passed the Dutchmen but then could not find the winning combination to put together a potent scoring attack.

In their next encounter, the yearlings soundly trounced New Haven State Teachers Junior Varsity, 16-0.

In their next battle the Junior Knights tangled with Dean Junior College for their first home appearance. A constant downpour bothered the scoring attack of both teams, as the game ended in a scoreless tie. Tom Celestino, the offensive star of the game, got off two long runs. The line play of Dick Armstrong and Jim Smith contained the Dean attack.

The Frosh ended the season on a winning note, stopping the Aggies of Long Island 22-0. In this game we gained a good insight into what we may expect of these players when they come under the wing of Coach Kay on the varsity level. Coach Dispirito formed a winning combination and put together a solid scoring attack along with a stable defense. Walt Czekaj came into his own to aid Celestino in giving the Frosh a one-two scoring punch. We may look back on the season with expectations of future winning teams for U.B.

Soccer

Once again, Coch John McKeon's soccer team ended its season with a winning record, eight wins, two losses, and one tie. 1958 marked the sixth straight year that McKeon's forces have had a winning season. This year the team also broke three U.B. all-time records; the record for most goals scored in a single season with 49; the record for most goals scored against one team with nine points; the record for the highest average number of goals scored with a 4.5 average. The team was so outstanding that six men of the starting line-up were honored with post-season awards. Jim Kuhlman was picked for the first team of the All-New England team. Hans Zucker and Co-Captain Frank Wlassak were placed on the second squad, and Everitt Merritt, Nicholas Hatzig, and John Majesko won Honorable Mention awards.

The Knights began their season with a hard-fought, 3-1, overtime win over Hofstra College. They next defeated Fairleigh Dickinson University and the University of Hartford. The University of Connecticut Huskies proved to be very rough in handing the team their first defeat, 2-1. But the Purple Knights bounced back to defeat Boston University, Lowell Tech, Clark University, and Albany State Teacher's College. Three of these wins were shut-outs for U.B.'s goalie, George Deiter. Next, the McKeon men fought to a tie with Yale University, but the following game with Springfield was a disappointing 6-1 loss for the U.B.-ites. The season ended when Bridgeport defeated the Coast Guard 4-2. On the season the team managed to finish in a tie for second place in the New England Soccer League with five wins, two defeats, and a tie. The University of Connecticut won the League by virtue of their defeat of Bridgeport.

The Knights opened their season with an overtime win over the Hofstra College Dutchmen at Seaside Park. The visitors scored early in the second period to take a fast, one-goal lead. With less than two minutes left in the first half, sophomore John Mejesko scored the first goal of his varsity career, to gain for the McKeon men a half time tie. The second half was somewhat the same story as the first, and at the end of the regulation time, the score read 1-1. In the overtime period of ten minutes, the UB booters showed their superior power as they scored two goals, winning 3-1. Both goals were scored by John Coogan, who like Majesko, was playing his first varsity game. Both boys had been on the undefeated Freshman team of last year.

Fairleigh Dickinson was next to invade Seaside Park and was shutout by the McKeon men, 5-0. Co-Captain Frank Wlassak put the home forces ahead early in the first period, as he scored from the right-hand corner with a 30 yard shot. Majesko accounted for a 2-0 lead by half time as he scored his third goal of the year in the second quarter. Hans Zucker, another sophomore sensation, scored his first goal of the year in the third period, and at the beginning of the last period the Knights were in front, 3-0. Wlassak and Zucker each scored their second goal of the afternoon late in the final period, and the McKeon men were home, 5-0. The UB defense was great in this game, for the Fairleigh Dickinson team managed only five shots at the UB nets.

Next, the Knights traveled to Hartford, and made it three straight as they easily defeated the University of Hartford, 7-1. Everitt Merritt, the team's leading scorer the previous year, put the UB-ites in the lead early in the first period as he scored his first goal of the year. The home forces of the University of Hartford tied the game seconds later with their only goal of the day. With four minutes left in the first period, Frank Wlassak scored on a penalty shot. The Knights were now ahead to say. Before the half time intermission, Merritt scored his second goal of the day for a 3-1 lead. Wlassak and Zucker each scored in the third quarter for a 5-1 lead. Merritt now hit the nets for the third time in the game, and Coogan also scored before the game was over for a 7-1 victory.

The U. Conn. Huskies next invaded Seaside Park and emerged with a hard-fought, 2-1 win. It was the first loss for the UB Knights. The Huskies took a 1-0 lead as they scored late in the second period. After the half time intermission the UB-ites came storming back and managed to gain a 1-1 tie before entering the final period. The only UB goal was scored by John Majesko. With only four minutes remaining in the game, the Huskies scored the winning goal. The UConn goalie was superb in this contest as he came up with 25 saves. The visitors could manage only 13 shots at the UB nets.

The McKeon forces next played host to the Boston University Terriers and won easily, 7-0. All seven goals were scored by members of the undefeated freshman team of the previous year. Coogan scored three, Zucker two, and Jim Kuhlman and Majesko each had one to add to the UB total. Goalie George Dieter had only three saves and with the aid of substitute goalie Joel Goldberg's four saves the game ended with another UB shutout.

Co-Captain Deiter registered his third shutout of the year, as the Knights defeated Lowell Tech, 5-0. Zucker scored early in the first period and again in the second for a fast 2-0, lead. Majesko hit the nets seconds after Zucker's second goal, and at the half the Knights were in front, 3-0. Wlassak scored late in the third quarter for a 4-0 lead. Then Majesko scored in the closing moments of the game; the McKeon men had their fifth win of the year, 5-0.

The Knights next traveled to Worcester, Massachusetts and defeated Clark University, 9-0. It was the third straight shoutout for goalie Deiter; his fourth of the year. The nine goals scored also was a record for the most goals scored in a single game by any UB soccer team. The Knights started fast, and had a 6-0 lead by the half-time intermission. This game was featured by the three-goal output of John Majesko.

The Knights next played host to the teachers from Albany State Teacher's College, and won easily, 6-1. Wlassak and John Majesko scored in the first period, and as the quarter came to a close, the Knights were in front 2-0. Wlassak scored his second goal of the afternoon in the same period, and at the half the UB-ites were in front, 3-0. The teachers closed the gap early in the second half as they scored their only goal of the day, but the Knights wouldn't be denied this win as Merritt and Coogan scored, and the Knights were in the lead, 5-1, starting the last period. Kuhlman scored the last of the UB goals late in the last period.

Opposing Yale University at New Haven, the Purple Knights and the Yale Bulldogs played to a 1-1 tie. Yale scored early in the first period and from that point on it was entirely a one-sided game in favor of the UB-ites. The Knights tied the score in the third period as Majesko scored from the left side. The McKeon forces managed 23 shots as compared to a mere nine for the Bulldogs.

Springfield College, the number one team in the country in 1957, completely outclassed the Knights by a score of 6-1. The Gymnasts started fast, and by half time they were in front, 5-1. Wlassak scored the only UB goal late in the second period.

In the final game of the year, the Knights traveled to New London and defeated the sailors of the Coast Guard Academy, 4-2. The sailors scored in the first period, to take a one goal lead. Majesko tied the score by half time with a shot from the right side about 25 yards out. The McKeon men broke the tie in the third period as Majesko and Wlassak scored. Wlassack, playing his last game for UB-ites, scored the last goal of the season for the Knights late in the last period. The UB booters won handily, 4-2.

Frank Wlassak and John Majesko tied for the team's leading scorer with 11 goals each. Next came Hans Zucker with 9, and John Coogan had eight. Coogan also led in assists with nine, followed by Wlassak who had eight.

Next year's co-captains have been announced; they are Everett Hart and James Kuhlman. Hart, a junior majoring in Physical Education, has won varsity letters in basketball and baseball besides his soccer ability. Kuhlman is a sophomore who was outstanding for the team and will be a welcome return in the fall.

Freshman Soccer

Under the able direction of Dick Hungerford, Springfield All-American, the Frosh Soccer team compiled an impressive 6-1 record.

The Junior Knights opened the season on a winning note, whipping a determined Hofstra club, 3-0. Bob Dikranian opened the scoring for the season by booting home a goal in the early minutes of the first period. Bob Churilla and Jerry Lessner added insurance goals in the second and third periods.

The Frosh experienced their only loss of the season in the next contest, dropping a 3-0 decision to the Little Elis of Yale.

The Hungerfordmen got back on the winning trail by soundly trouncing Chesire Academy, 11 to 1. Bob Dikranian pulled the hat trick plus one, scoring an unbelievable 4 goals. Goalie Mark Ward accomplished a once in a lifetime feat for a goalie by breaking into the scoring column.

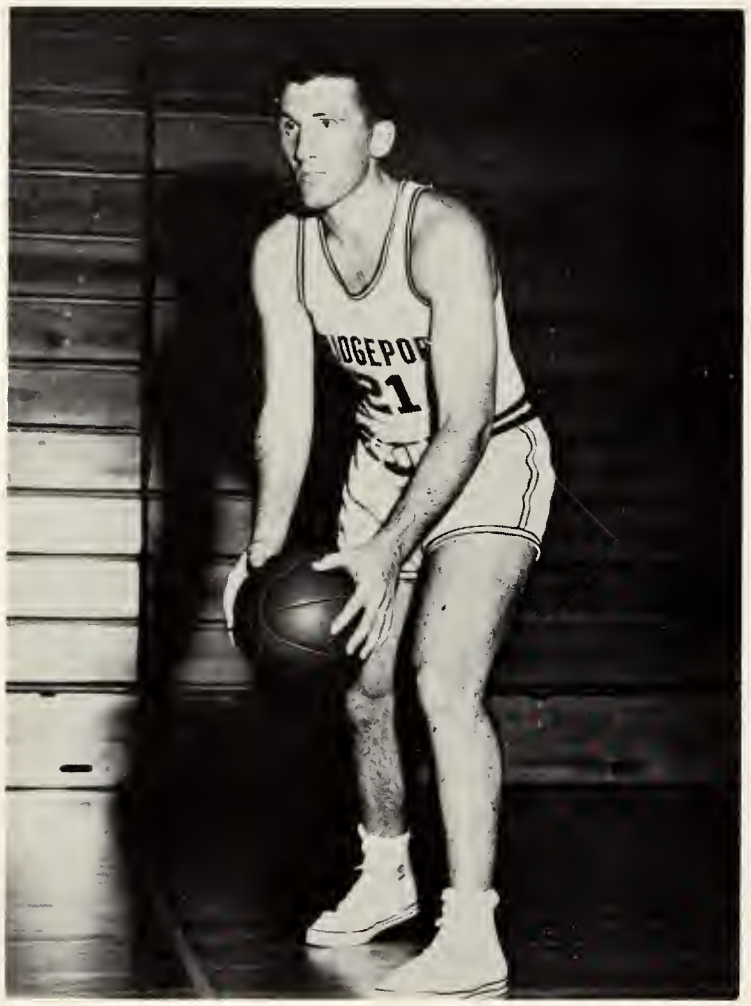
The Junior Knights continued their winning ways by taking their next contest against Milford Prep 3-0. The highlight of the season came as the Knights upset the highly-touted Army Plebe team by the score of 2-1. Bob Dikranian and Jerry Lessner led the Knights' scoring attack. The defensive play of Bruce Jano and Mark Ward was outstanding. The Frosh completely outplayed the Army team and brought home one of the prized victories of the University's athletic program.

The Junior Knights romped over Danbury Teacher's College by a score of 3-0. Dikranian showed his potent scoring by collecting two goals.

The Frosh ended a successful season by taking a close 2-0 decision over the freshmen of Wesleyan. The defensive efforts of Ward and Jano were rewarded by the achievement of the fourth shutout of the season.

Coach John McKeon can look with a smile to next season as he has some very promising sophomores to aid a junior laden club that will help keep University soccer in the limelight and on a winning level.

Basketball



The varsity basketball season opened with an air of gloom. Coach Glines had lost his scoring ace Hal Hellerman through graduation and was left with a team that was comprised of juniors. To add to Dr. Glines worries not a player was over 6'4" in height. Just prior to the start of the season playmaker Tony Granger was hobbled by a leg injury that was to keep him inactive for the first half of the season. Dick Whitcomb, who was a starter in the 1957-58 season, was not able to join the squad either.

Despite this dismal outlook the Knights opened the season in grand style by beating a highly favored Yeshiva at the UB gym. Bobby Laemel led the Knights in an up-hill fight by scoring with his deadly one hand jump shot. Transfer student Jim Romanello did a fine job in teaming up with Jumping Joe Collello in controlling the backboards. Laemel was top scorer for the evening with a 35 point performance.

The Knights then lost their next three games. In the first game the Knights lost to the Coast Guard team, a defeat that showed the definite disadvantage that lack of height can produce. Against St. Johns and Manhattan Bridgeport opposed two of the best teams in the country. It will be remembered that St. Johns went on to win the National Invitational Tournament.

The Knights got back on the winning trail by beating the Merchant Marine Academy. Ed Wysocki showed some of his old form by chipping in with a neat 18 point total. Ed was invaluable as he snared off countless rebounds. This seems to be the story of the Glinesmen throughout the 1958-59 season, when the Knights were in control of the backboards the Knights usually were in control of the ballgames.

The Knights dropped two more games to Fairleigh Dickinson and Springfield to run up their dismal record to 1-5. The Glinesmen in their next battle hit their high point total for one game when they routed Brooklyn College 114-to-80. The Knights set a new scoring record for the University by smashing Brooklyn. It will be remembered that in last year's Brooklyn game Hal Hellerman met with a brutal beating from the Brooklyn fans; this game proved to be a fitting revenge for the Bridgeport five. The Knights took some of Hal's pain away by amassing over a hundred points with six men in double figures. Scoring honors went to Bob Laemel who garnered 29 points. The Knights kept on their hot streak by downing AIC. Bob Laemel kept his hot hand by scoring 33 points to lead the Purple Knights once again. After losing to New Britain, the Purple Knights routed Brooklyn Poly in a warmup tilt for two of the most important games of the season with St. Francis and arch-rival Fairfield. Jumping Joe Colello regained some of his old form by leading the Knights to the upset victory over highly-rated St. Francis. It was an up-hill fight with the Knights pulling ahead in the fourth quarter to win going away.

With this sweet victory over St. Francis, Bridgeport seemed ready to do battle with Fairfield. Another bright note was the return of Tony Granger to the squad for the first time this season. The Knights jumped off to a quick four point lead in the opening minutes of play due largely to the fine shooting of Colello. The Stags bounced back in the second half to take a commanding lead that the Knights tried in vain to overcome. After the game, it was learned that Ed Wysocki had played despite a painful injury to his index finger on the right hand. It was this type of team spirit that more than made up for the lack of height problem that the Knights suffered all season. The Fairfield University team also did an excellent job in bottling up Bridgeport's scoring ace Bob Laemel.

After breaking for the mid-year exams, the boys returned by soundly beating the University of Hartford. The Knights then went into a period that saw them lose three ballgames by a total of seven points. During this heartbreaking period the Knights played their finest basketball of the season only in a losing cause. Bob Lazar was on a scoring spree in this time along with the able shooting of Laemel and Romanello.

The Glinesmen in their next encounter beat Hunter College in New York and then lost to New Haven and St. Anslems. In their last three games the Knights played the kind of basketball that can be expected of them next season. The Glinesmen then upset LIU and walloped Clark University. The season came to a glorious end when the Purple Knights downed their arch-rival Fairfield. It was not an easy win for the Knights who came from behind several times to beat the Stags. Probably the most memorable shot of the season was the last shot of the season that gave the Knights victory. With the score tied at 84 all, Ed Wysocki came from nowhere to sink a hook shot and bring the Knights a most deserved win.

With five returning seniors Coach Glines can look forward with a bright outlook for next season. With Bob Laemel, who broke the individual season scoring record of the "Iron Horse" Lou Saccone, back the Knights should supply UB fans with interesting and winning basketball.

One of the saddest notes of the season is the loss of veteran ballplayers George Dieter and Captain Chuck Milot, but since these are the only two lettermen who will not be returning Coach Glines looks forward with optimism to the 1959-60 season.

Freshman Basketball

Coach Gus Seamen, one of the University's all time basketball greats, began his second season at the helm of the Junior Knights. The Knights were made up largely of former local high school stars who decided to go to college in their own home town.

The Junior Knights opened the season in impressive fashion by reeling off four straight wins. Deacon Dan Morello, Jerry Sysmanski and Joe Yazinski were the leading scorers in this hot streak.

Coach Seaman's charges lost a heartbreaker to Fairleigh Dickinson Frosh in one of the finest games played all season. A total of 192 points were scored in this contest. Dan Morello was high man for the Junior Knights with a 25 point total.

The Knights won six out of the next eight games. Seaman's boys took the measure out of such teams as New Britain, Hartford University, and New Haven State Teachers' College. In the game against New Haven the Junior Knights ran up a total of 98 points, a season high for the Frosh in a winning contest. The leading scorers in that contest were Joe Yazinski, Sysmanski and Captain Jim Moran. The Knights during the hot streak lost to Adelphi and the Fairfield Frosh.

Again the Knights went on a winning streak taking the spunk out of the Wesleyan Frosh, Dutchess College, Milford Prep, and the Y Sportmen. The Knights then dropped close decisions to the Yale, Iona and Fairfield Frosh.

The Fairfield game, played at the UB gym was one of the finest games seen at the new gym. The contest required a triple overtime to decide the outcome. The Knights came from behind time and time again to force the Stags into the third overtime period the Knights lost the services of Dan Morello and Joe Yazinski which proved to be fatal because of the lack of a scoring punch. Throughout the contest Jackie Burns kept the Knights with range with some long set shots.

The Knights ended the season for Coach Seaman with a very fine overall record. The fine talent was developed this year will certainly be of use to Coach Glines in the next three years to come.

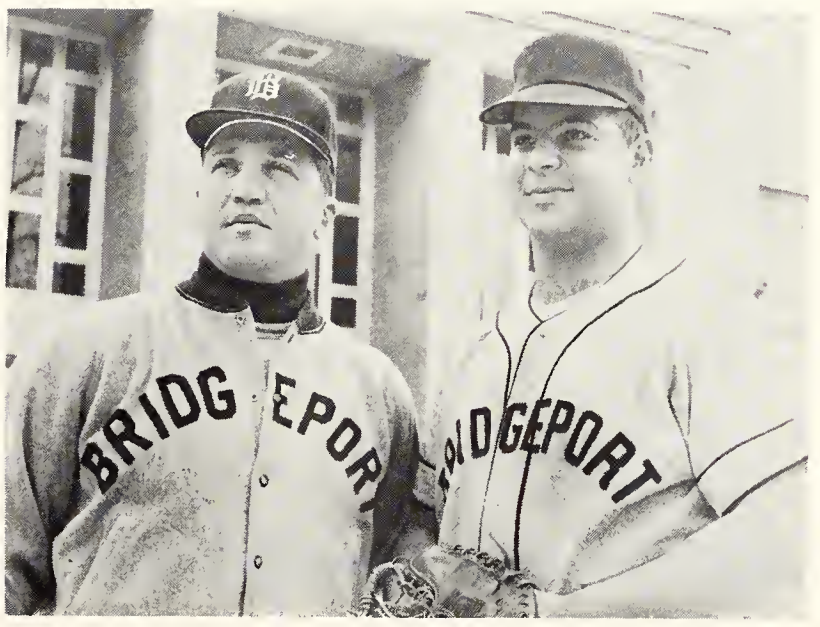
Baseball

When the cry of "Play ball" was first heard at Seaside Park by the members of the UB baseball team, an apprehensive air of tension hung over the squad. The University of Bridgeport had not done well over the year in major varsity sports, and it seemed rather ridiculous to hope for much from the baseball team. Nobody knew just what Coach Bob DiSpirito would do with his young and inexperienced players, but characteristically everyone remained quite optimistic. As we now review the totals of the 1959 season, we realize that their optimism was well founded and that the University of Bridgeport made a good investment when they hired Coach "D".

In April, the team made its debut, but in rather a disappointing fashion. Leading the whole game until the 9th inning, the Knights were overtaken by the LIU Aggies, who came up with two big runs. Laemel and Giampaolo were the batting stars for Bridgeport, and pitcher Bob Budd took the loss.

The next game with Hunter College was again decided in the last inning, but this time the versatile bat of John Aslan provided Bridgeport with its first victory, 5-4 Bernie Depace went the route for his first victory.

On April 15, Bob Budd made his first start by turning in a sterling four hit performance. The Knights were unbeatable as they collected thirteen hits for nine runs, allowing the opposition only two runs. The Bridgeport attack was again led by Laemel, Aslan, Granger, and Giampaolo.



On April 17, the UB-ites were rained out for the third time this season when the Providence College game was postponed. The lay-off proved fatal as the Knights lost two out of their next three games to New Haven, 9-6 and Seton Hall, 8-4. Wedged in between the losses was a sparkling victory over an inept Hartford University team, 18-0. In this contest the Knights collected 19 hits. Laemel drove in 5 runs with a single, double, and a home run.

On April 30, the Knights traveled to the Hat City to meet a good Danbury State Teacher's College nine. Bernie Depace, in his second complete game of the year, out-pitched the Danbury ace, as the Bridgeport hitters eked out a close 2-1 victory. Bridgeport's overall season record now stood at, 5-3.

Clark University of Worcester, Massachusetts next invaded Seaside Park, but the long trip was in vain, as the Purple Knights collected seven runs to beat Clark, 7-3. A three run outburst by the visitors in the 9th was the only stain on an otherwise perfect game for the Knights.

The following two games with Fairleigh Dickinson University and American International College ended with UB adding to their winning season. The Knights were now moving along smoothly with beautiful pitching and a potent hitting attack. In these two games the Knights collected twenty-three hits.

On May 12, Springfield College ended the Knights' five game winning streak with a 5-4 victory. It was a bitter defeat for the Purple warriors as they led in the 9th by a 3-1 score. Then the roof fell in and Knights were saddled with their fourth loss. DiSpirito's men did manage to come back with one run in the bottom of the ninth but it was not enough to beat the Massachusetts nine.

Wednesday, May 13, the big game of the year was held with Fairfield University. As usual the biggest crowd of the year witnessed the contest. With Bob Budd pitching, the Knights took an early lead, but in the fourth the Stags scored three big runs with the aid of two costly Bridgeport errors, to take the victory by 4-3. Bridgeport could not pull it out. The most that can be said for this game in behalf of the Bridgeport team is that it was a typical Fairfield-Bridgeport game.

Bernie Depace, two days later, put the Knights back on the winning track with a 6-1 victory. It was a well pitched game and again the Knights stole five bases.

The next game with Hofstra College was also another victory for Bridgeport by a 7-1 score, but against the Rider College nine, the UB-ites looked miserable in losing, 3-1. While collecting 11 hits, the Knights managed to hit into two costly double plays and strand 11 men.

The final game of the season against Trinity was also tragic, as the Knights lost to a good team by a score of 5-1. This final game was a hard way to end the season, but certainly not indicitive of the team's overall record.

When the totals were computed, the record showed a credible eleven wins and seven losses. The Knights at times showed some spectacular baseball ability, but costly errors and the loss of many one-run games marred the record. With just a couple of breaks in the right places, an otherwise good season could have been a great season. Only in the Trinity game did the Knights really feel the pressure of a better squad. In hitting, Johnny Giampaolo captured the batting title with twenty-eight hits in seventy trips to the plate for a smashing .400 average. Laemel finished in the runner-up position with twenty-seven hits in seventy-nine times at bat for a .342 mark. Ralph Papazian and Bernie Depace had the best pitching records, but the work of Ralph King and Bob Budd was also instrumental in providing Coach Bob DiSpirito with the winning combination.

Freshman Baseball

Under the guidance of Coach Fran Poissen, the Freshman baseball team compiled a credible 6-3 record for the 1959 season.

On April 15, the squad opened its season with a heart-breaking 6-5 loss at the hands of a well-balanced Yale nine. The yearlings then took the next two games from Trinity and Milford Prep, before being handed their second defeat by Worcester Junior College. The Bridgeport nine then shut-out their next two opponents, New Haven and Milford Prep. Two days later the Wesleyan Junior-varsity handed the Frosh their third and final defeat. In the last two contests Bridgeport prevailed over the Army Plebes and Worcester Junior College.

Besides having a good over-all record, the squad also showed their potential by scoring 92 runs in 9 contests with only 48 runs against. All the defeats were by a one-run margin and the pitching staff had three shut-outs. If the boys produce as well for Coach De Spirito on the varsity squad next year, Bridgeport should have a winning season for many years to come.

Track

With Walter Kondratovich back as coach for the tenth year, the track team prepared for its 1959 season. Unfortunately the weather did not hold and the team was only able to get in three meets. George Dixon and Don Scott were elected co-captains for the year.

Even though the win-loss record was one win and two losses the true potential of the team came out in the Intercollegiate Conference Track Meet in which the University of Bridgeport placed fourth in a field of 30 schools. In this meet Dixon won two medals as he came in second in the broad jump and high jump and Harold Kent came in second in the shot put.

This was a year for breaking records and the following school records were set during the short three-meet season: George Dixon set two school records in the broad jump and high jump. In the broad jump Dixon hit 22 feet and 6 inches, while in the high jump he reached 6 feet 3 inches. Jim Kuhlman broke the high and low hurdles record. Other top performers for the track team were Paul Feeley and Jim McGary. Varsity letterman and co-captain from last year's squad, Dick Whitcomb, was injured in the second meet and was unable to participate in the future engagements.

The Bridgeport team had some unfortunate breaks besides the weather and Whitcomb's injury, but were able to win one meet during the year. This was a big win because it was over Fairfield University. Victory over the arch rivals softened the other two meets against Adelphi and Fairleigh Dickinson which the team lost.

Freshman Track

The Freshman track team again showed the spirit that will make the good varsity teams of the future. This year's schedule held down to only a few meets was further weakened by the postponement of several scheduled meets. On the season record the Knights came out with a 1-1 win-loss record. Coach Kondratovich, who was also the mentor for the varsity squad spent most of the year drilling the boys on fundamentals in anticipation of the future.

Jimmy Smith and Bruce Johnson were co-captains and both showed their ability by winning many events. The meets were against Fairfield University, which the boys lost by a small score and with New Haven which the Junior Knights won in fine fashion. Coach Kay said at the end of the last match that he feels that next year's varsity will be stronger with the addition of many fine freshmen on this year's squad.

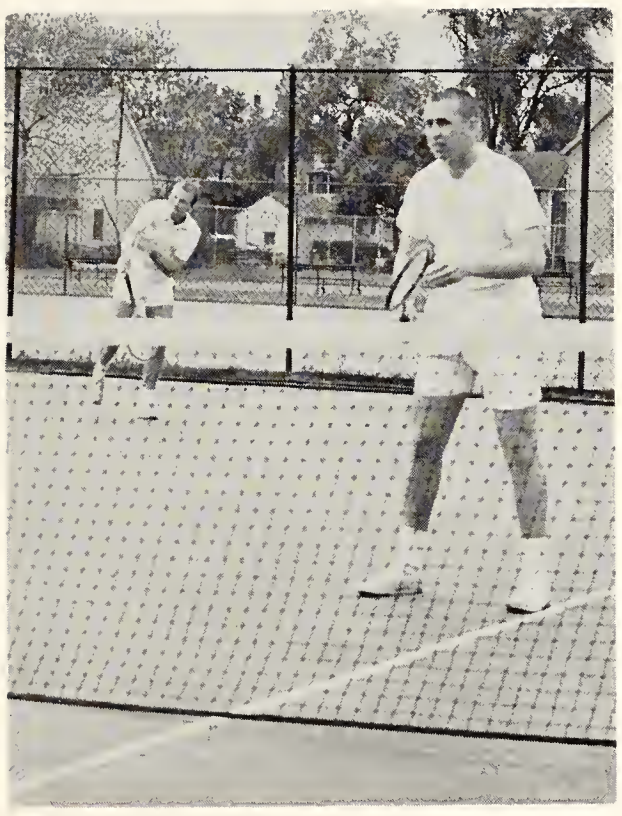
Golf

The Golf team had another winning season under Coach Al Sherman whose squads have never had a losing season This year's team came through with a fine record of 6 wins, 1 loss and 2 ties. Lead by Captain Ed Beardsley the Bridgeport golfers ended their season in a highly successful note by coming in fourth in the Metropolitan Inter-Collegiate Golf Tournament in which they competed with most of the larger schools in the area.

Don Micklus and Ralph Howe joined the team for the first year and proved to be valuable assets with Micklus becoming the number one man as the season progressed. Other players were Tony Sabatino, Dick Seiner, George Montour, Nick Poppas and Don Brennen. Dick Moshow did a commendable job as player manager.

Impressive victories were scored over Seton Hall and Fairleigh Dickinson. Our boys defeated Iona and New Britain twice. The sole loss came at the hands of a strong Hartford University team. Beside the wins, the team gained two ties, one with New Haven and the other with Hartford.

Tennis



Last year tennis returned to the Bridgeport campus and this year showed more interest, not only by the players themselves, but by the student body as well. Although the win-loss record of this year's team was rather poor, men and spirit promise much for the future. Plagued by a wet spring, the team suffered seven defeats. The highlight of the season was an impressive victory over the New Haven squad. Player-Coach Charles Huestis led well his fine team all of which will be back next year with the exception of Dick Moore and Charlie himself.

John Wright proved to be an outstanding performer in his first year on the squad. Besides Wright, Sandy Katz, Jim Blue, and Lee Miska have showed great promise.

As the season progressed the boys improved and Manager Fred Reichert summed up the prospective for the future with these words, "This year everyone saw promise, next year they will see action."

Acknowledgements

Each year it is customary to list the individuals who were not on the Wistarian staff but contributed to the publication of this yearbook. There are many people who have devoted much of their time, and undoubtedly some helpful person will be omitted from the following credits. Our thanks go to everyone who has joined in making the 1959 yearbook possible.

In an effort to save money the staff relies quite heavily on the photography talents of Vic Muniec. In this publication a majority of the candids and sports pictures are selections from Vic's files. Messrs. Murray Modick, Richard Robertson and Jay Jannetty are also to be complimented for their efforts.

In the student department we wish to thank Dian Doda and Chris Trimpert. Mary Lika and Mrs. Hotchkiss, from Student Personnel, deserve much credit for their interest and support.

Our thanks go out to the girls in Howland Hall, and to Mr. Hubbard and his secretary, Mrs. Winterburn.

But for all the student help, faculty assistance, etc., the final success lies with the publisher—Bradbury, Sayles, O'Neill, Hurley and Thomson. We wish to thank Victor O'Neill for his special help.
